1977 Class Will

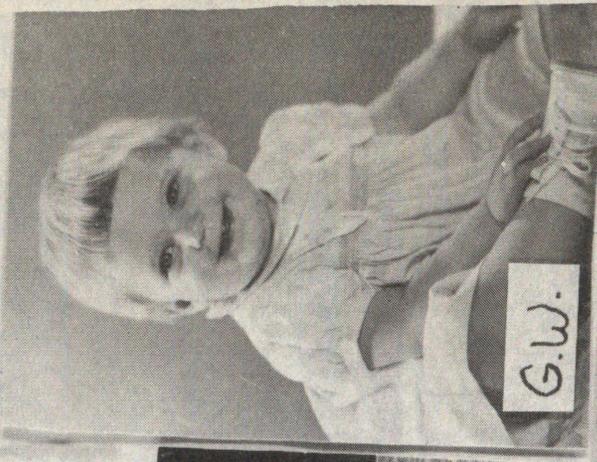

We, the class of 1977 wish to leave the following items to the following people, knowing that they will be put to good use.

- to Mrs. Barsema: 500 passes to the Commons.
- to Mr. Benner: a ticket on the "Road Not Taken" to the "Top of the Hill" where he can "Sit on the Dock of the Bay" and "Spread Joy."
- to Mr. Coyner: an unabridged dictionary of the English language.
- to Miss Ekern: a fully equipped Romper Room.
- to Mrs. Fairbank: A classroom of kids tapping pencils.
- to Mr. Fickau: new sheet music to play on his meter stick, the book entitled "10 Days to a Successful Memory," and the DuPage River.
- to Fruitcake: a lunch room full of giggling girls, and Rhonda.
- to the Girls' P.E. Department: Permanent managers.
- to Mr. Greenberg: a book entitled "How to make Mountains Out of Molehills," and a bowl of electronic spaghetti.
- to Mr. Grubbs: Tim Norman's bronzed wrestling shoes.
- to Mr. Hansen: a bigger office.
- to the Home Ec Department: a typist and errand runner.
- to Jerry, the trainer: a job other than standing outside in the cold.
- to Mr. Kimery: a radio that plays only WMAQ, a better insurance policy, and a winning soccer team. Also, a spare set of driver's ed car keys.
- to Mrs. King: a pile of the warmest clothes for tennis season.
- to Mr. Lemon: one book entitled "Uncommonly Used Words in the English Language," one COLD turkey sandwich, a wrong angle, and a crate of lemons.
- to Mrs. Lindsey: a package of Twizzlers every 5th hour.
- to Dr. Murphy: an automatic pass stamper.
- to Mr. Netzel: one whipped cream pie, and Victor Alcazar.
- to Mr. Owens: a winning football season, and a dozen baby chicks.
- to Mr. Ream: one book entitled "U.S. Trivia," a taperecorder to remember everything he says in class, a list of people who took American History; Discovery to 1877 and 1877 to present.
- to Mr. Salzman: a new box of colored chalk for his Calculus students, David Zietlow, a little black bag for his dirty tricks, and an economy size bag of multi-colored board washing sponges.
- to Mr. Sargent: a complete four-year collection of tuba music for marching band, and a few respectable saxophone players.
- to Mr. Severe & Mr. Burgess: an alarm clock each, to wake up your classes.
- to Mr. Severe: a book entitled "How to Answer Every Question Except the Question Asked."
- to Miss Singleton: a "Happy Apple" for when she's bored, all the P.E. equipment that is worn out for Casey, one worker every hour to help her do her work, a years' supply of athletic tape for every basketball season.
- to Miss Sorensen: Craig Sisson for another year.

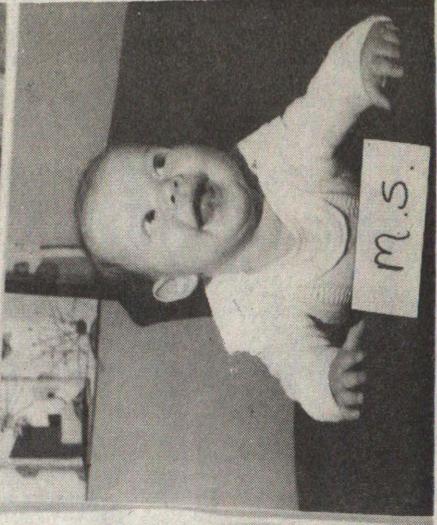

- to Mr. Smith: His own classroom completely equipped with a refrigerator for liquid refreshments, a junior in every government class.
- to Mr. Strecker: 2 staunch anarchists, 1889 stockmarket, Bahken, the New Zenith, and the male Chauvanist Pig Award.
- to Mr. Swan: a publisher's edition of "99 Ways to Explain Math in Elementary Terms."
- to Mr. Van de Mark: a new necklace of the opposite sex to go with your old one.
- to Miss Waldorf: one excellent publicity chairman.
- to Mr. Walton: new feathers for Louis S. Duck.
- to Mr. Wicks: a secretary to do your bookwork.
- to Mr. Zimmerman: 2 crates of Dannon Yogurt, a never ending supply of medieval Madrigals, a bass crumhorn (or is it a crumpet?), and 5 classes of Canada and Latin America.
- to Mr. Waterhouse: no suspensions until the second week of school.
- to the School: a Xerox machine that doesn't break down.
