FOREWORD

Throughout the past year our mental processes have been disturbed by the rumble and roar of a bulldozer, the clanking of a crane, the shouts from the foreman to his crew instructing them on the facelifting of We-Go Hi, the rat a tat tat of an air hammer as it bites into our hallowed halls, and the continuous put put put of an engine supplying the much needed power for these tasks. All these are the sounds heard in the construction of a building of concrete, steel, wood, brick, and mortar. However, our new building holds more significance to us than just another public building. In our yearbook we hope to portray that our school is built of flesh and bones and that people are the raw materials used in it. This we will show by picturing the activities of our school: sports, music, journalistic efforts, and classes as well as the participants; educational architects, contractors, builders, and the products of this educational enterprise. It is to this end that the new addition to our building is being created in order that we might

Build better minds and bodies.
 Build qualities which will enable us to get along with people.
 Build lasting friendships.
 Build useful citizens of our community, of our nation, and of the world.

DEDICATION

"CONSULTANT"

MR. ROY KIISKILA

In appreciation for helping build our high school days into not only a profitable but also a pleasant and memorable experience, we dedicate the '56 Challenge to Roy Kiiskila, our class advisor.

Class of 1956

30 YEARS OF SERVICE

Mr. Samuel D. Bishop
Principal

Miss Helen Koupal
Library, English

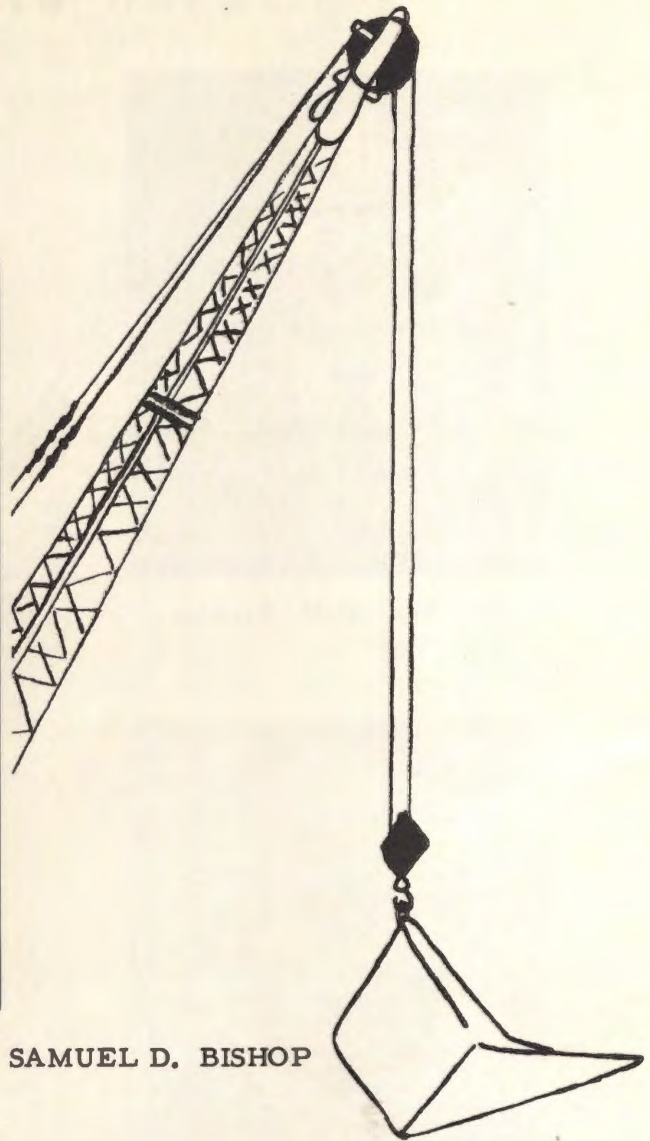

Mr. Claude A. Lee
Secretary, Board of Education

Mr. Clarence Voelz
Custodian

As we eagerly anticipate the completion of the construction that so noisily goes on about us almost daily, may we not forget that our school, as it is now, is a result of similar building-for-the-future that has been carried on in the past. Four people who have been helping and often guiding this growth for the past thirty years are honored on this page: Mr. Bishop, Miss Koupal, Mr. Lee, and Mr. Voelz. We dedicate this page to them in grateful appreciation.

PRINCIPAL "ARCHITECT"

MR. SAMUEL D. BISHOP

As the architect in our flesh and blood building, great responsibilities are placed upon Mr. Bishop, our principal. Each year he shoulders his responsibilities and dispatches his duties with the utmost concern for our building and its products; for this, we, the class of 1956, would like to thank him.

We, the senior class of 1956, would like to introduce you to "Willie." Willie has been our invisible classmate for the four years of our high school career. Whenever mischief was afoot--there was Willie. He rolled gumballs across the study hall; he threw the erasers; he missed the wastebasket with the paper wad. If any class became dull, and they sometimes do, Willie managed to liven it up. Willie participated loyally in all the activities of the class of 1956, from our freshman year through to our busy senior year.

Our freshman football and basketball teams were quite the whiz with Willie playing on them both. Brookfield Zoo will never be the same since our freshman class, accompanied by Willie, visited there on our class trip.

By the time we entered our sophomore year, Willie was fast becoming aware that he was our scapegoat. He tried to flee from the museum when we took our class trip. He hid himself at our sophomore Sock Hop, as did our boys when they tied for the Frosh-Soph Little Seven Football Conference Companionship.

Willie was fast becoming aware that he was our scapegoat. He tried to flee from the museum when we took our class trip. He hid himself at our sophomore Sock Hop, as did our boys when they tied for the Frosh-Soph Little Seven Football Conference Companionship.

In our junior year we added some much needed savings to our treasury by means of our very successful play, STAG LINE. Willie coached the lead. Willie worked cat, on the decorations. We put on the mas Party our junior year. Candy Cane like a wild man; oops-pardon us--a wild-Junior-Senior Prom, "Stairway to the Stars." Willie certainly looked nice, along with all the rest of our classmates, in his evening dress.
