CHALLENGE started off the year with practically no experience. Sally Olsen was the new advisor as well as the newest school librarian. The staff was all new as well, except for me: I was the only person from the previous staff to return. The yearbook was put together in a tiny room on the third floor, with no windows and one fan. The staff put in a lot of extra time besides first hour when we met as a class. Staying as late as seven o'clock after school was not unusual. Many of us also showed up quite a few Saturdays throughout the year. Although we have had our share of disagreements, the development of friendships and the feelings of accomplishment are what we will remember.

The theme of the book was unanimously agreed upon because it was the one concept that all of us could relate to. Everyone uses the telephone at one time or another. The telephone is a big part of a teenager's social life: how else would we find out who had a crush on us, get that date to the Prom, or ask Mom for a little more time on Friday and Saturday nights? It was only a coincidence, however, that a fire in the Illinois Bell switching station in Hindsdale made keeping in touch not so easy for several weeks.

1988 will be remembered for a lot of things other than road construction and limited parking. Many good things happened over the course of this year: participation in State competitions by many of our athletes, the First Annual Home Economics Night, Tyrone Parks' "alam dunk", Senior breakfast, and Commencement when we threw our, uh, when we didn't throw our hats — to name a few. The year was also one of tragedy. The unfortunate deaths of Missy McAllister and Sharon Bokker had quite an impact on the entire school.

This year is finally over and all that is left of 1988 are a few vague memories and this book, which will become more meaningful with every year to come. We want to thank the many people who helped along the way to make this book what it is: Bob Moorhead, Walsworth Representative; Willard Beebe for helping with the cover design; the McAllister family; Jim Snell for helping us to meet our deadlines; and all the advisors and coaches who provided information and identified their groups. An extra special thanks goes to Virginia Fairbank, the former CHALLENGE advisor for acting as our on-call expert when things became confusing. We would also like to thank Lifetouch Prestige Portraits of Chicago, the WEST CHICAGO PRESS, the DAILY JOURNAL, APA Photos, Ann Hein, and many student photographers for supplying us with the photographs found throughout this book.

By the way, Mrs. Olsen, that little light in the old yearbook room is finally turned off.

Julie A. Pollastrini
Editor-in-Chief
