WILDCATS HAVE PAWS.

Every day at Community High School, Wildcats use their paws to participate in classes and clubs, play sports, perform plays, take tests, give speeches, wave, write... the list goes on and on. You'll know when we're having a good time, because you'll see our PAWS IN THE AIR.

WeGo In With Pride Assembly

One of the great things about coming into high school is being able to kick the year off with a pep assembly.

Each assembly is a place where students can get together and participate in school activities. The goal is to welcome students and staff back and get school spirit flowing. It is also important to welcome the incoming freshman into the building.

The first day back can be a little nerve racking for new students. All the fun games and activities are in place to rally the student body together and show incoming students just how much spirit WeGo has. Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors have spent the most time at the school and have enjoyed all WeGo has to offer, and the assembly provides a great way to spread that pride to the incoming freshmen.

How were you affected by participating in the performance?

Emma Noelke
Sophomore

"The show definitely opened my eyes to what happened during 9/11 that I hadn't thought about before, and I also got close to a group of great kids. I'm always going to remember With Their Eyes because of the great experience and how it let me see another side of the events of 9/11 that I never knew about."

Lucas Jaconis
Junior

"This was my first big show and it really gave me something to think about in terms of the content. However, I'm glad to have done it because it was a great stepping stone for my acting career."

One Remembrance at a Time

Fall Play: With Their Eyes

This year WeGo Drama's 'theme' is "Where the Moment Matters," which is completely appropriate for the first main-stage show of the year. WeGo Drama opened their season with the new play, With Their Eyes. This show told the story of students and staff members of Stuyvesant High School, a high school located just a few blocks from the World Trade Center, on the tragic day of 9/11. Unlike most plays, this show is created by a series of monologues from interviews of staff members and students at Stuyvesant and the accounts they witnessed on that day. Each interview was different. One showed the view a teacher that day, the next a student followed by a janitor, an administrator, and so on. This heavy subject matter called the cast to push themselves to new limits. Each cast member had to embody a different person going through the attack a different way and reacting differently. With the dedication of the cast, along with the directors and crew, this first show of the year was a success, touching the heart of audience. It was With Their Eyes that they commemorated the ten year anniversary of this devastating event.

One Week at a Time

Homecoming Week

A week of showing school spirit and participating in activities!

Even the wildcat was ready for the fun!

Freshman Samantha Trejo went into homecoming week thinking it was going to be the time of her life. Her hopes became true when her best guy friend asked her to the homecoming dance. She thought it was going to be a crazy week. She never thought that it was going to be so much fun and she says, "It was exciting for me as a freshman since we never really had these kinds of dances at the middle school. Especially the whole asking-someone-out process. He asked me with a rose, and by the end of that night, he told me he liked me." This dance created many memorable moments for Trejo. The dance was the best part of the whole week and she loved seeing everyone happy and having a good time. "It was just a fun experience to see everyone in a good mood." Homecoming was an evening of enjoying life with close friends and dancing the night away. This night will always hold great value for Samantha and she will never forget it.

What do you think?

Q: What was your favorite part about Homecoming Week?

It's GameTime!

Junior Carla Dannug went into the Powder Puff game knowing "there was going to be tension between the seniors and juniors, but I really didn't care because that's just how the tradition goes." Dannug was mostly focused on the fun of the game and not necessarily the score. Although, it was made a more memorable experience when the juniors won and were the first class to beat the seniors. Dannug "learned that it's important to include everyone and make them feel part of the team, regardless of a win or lose. The fun that comes out of it is what truly matters the most."

One Move at a Time

Homecoming Dance

Homecoming is always highly anticipated among the student body as a great way to kick off the beginning of the school year. The sports themed night provided a great opportunity for non-stop dancing and good times. Hundreds of worry-free students enjoyed dancing along to upbeat music that was perfect for busting some moves and made the night so memorable. Homecoming provides the perfect opportunity to spend some quality time with peers that may not be seen outside of school, or meet some new people. Homecoming is one of the few chances for the student body to come together and enjoy each other's company while making life long memories.

One Cure at a Time

Senior Julia Conard, one of the captains for the volleyball team amazes the crowd everytime she executes well on the court. She made sure to perform well, especially for this cause. Conard said, " It was really an emotional match, and both teams were playing for a cause bigger than conference." With so much going on during the game, the players were able to focus well on their performance. The game was so well played that they ended up winning against Glenbard North.

Volley for the Cure

Keeping a tradition strong at West Chicago Community High School

Nothing feels better than playing for a cause!

Volley for the Cure has made a huge impact on those who participate, come to watch the fun-filled game or even to just raise money and awareness for the Susan G. Komen Foundation. You walk into the school on this special night, and you feel a new atmosphere. You feel the bond students have with a loved one, you feel the pain of those who suffer from this terrible sickness, and you feel the hope these men and women have to overcome their hardships and still see life as something to fight for.

One Adventure at a Time

The Squad

The squad is a place for our students to join together and cheer for our sport teams and give them the confidence to win their game. When students think of the games at West Chicago, they think of the squad or student center. Being a part of the squad has a sense of belonging to the school. During the football season, a group of the seniors get together and plan a theme for away and home games. Everyone shows up dressed in that theme. We cheer on our teams and go to all of the games. During basketball and volleyball season, the squad does the same thing but there are different chants for each different sport. Our recent traditions are the "We Run This" chant at football games. At the basketball games when someone makes a three-point basket we all fall backwards onto each other. The squad has always been a tradition of its own at West Chicago Community High School.

Senior Alma Valerio said "The squad is always a fun and energetic place to be, It will definitely be missed by all seniors" The Seniors are the students that get to experience and remember the squad as their own because each year the new seniors get to decide the theme for a certain game. Another senior Andrew Kruthoff said " Our squad was beast this year! Our neon night was probably the best because everyone could see us from across the field" The seniors enjoyed the opportunity to be the leaders of the squad and run the school in cheering for our teams.

At the GBN away game the theme was independence for 9/11.

WEGO hosted Spaniards for this game, so the theme was Latino night.

Swag team was a fun part of our squad this year and they kept us lively.

This game we showed our We-Go pride and wore the squad outfits.

This year the Wildcats played as hard as they could after another challenging season. Football gained two new coaches, John Bryan and Dave Pammer, they taught the Wildcats new skills and better techniques. This year the Wildcats won a game at DVC, which hasn't happened in a while. The team tried their hardest and put all their best effort into the game. Football is said to build confidence, junior Josh Yang said. "My most memorable moment was winning our homecoming game against Glenbard East."

Each year the cheerleaders come during summer in determination to start the season off right and on top. Cheerleading is about working together, dancing, and motivating the students. At each football game, basketball game, and assembly the cheerleaders perform their routines for all students, parents, and faculty members to see. The girls work hard during their practices to get the routines spotless and perfect. The squad had a wonderful season and hope to achieve more next year. When I was a freshman the senior girls wore them too." The most memorable moment this season for Marianne Ulett was when the Wildcats won the Homecoming game. "Cheerleading will be missed for the girls."

Cheerleading brought not only a sport for Deirdre Hofman but friendships, "Cheerleading helped me be a part of something and hang out with my friends."

The Poms Squad is motivated by a very close knit bond that strengthens throughout each performance. However, some of their best bonding time is during the UDA camp in the summer. At camp, the squad won several trophies and learned new choreography. Led by senior Alison Miller, junior Caitlin Romolt, and sophomore Cristin Zaputil, the Poms Squad has entertained the entire student body with their amazing dances at the pep assemblies and home football games. According to senior Janel Tomassoni, "The three minutes on the field and court are when we show off what we've been working on, and it's definitely worth it." The squad had many injuries this season but, "remained a strong team that focuses on promoting school spirit and cheering on all us Wildcats," said Miller. "Performing for the school is great. Sometimes I get a little nervous, but once I'm out there, I get a huge adrenaline rush and am excited to be dancing."

The marching band consistently kept energy levels high during football games and encouraged the team. They incorporated The Squad and spectators into their performances, stomping along with the drum line and chanting with fans. "My favorite part of the season had to be when Davis Steinbrecher and I created a dance to "Ghostbusters" and performed it at halftime. I got to dress up in a blow-up marshmallow man and Davis was a ghostbuster. It was great!" said sophomore drum major Antonia Loboeki. Whether they were performing to "Ghostbusters" or "Let's Dance", the band surprised and impressed fans with their music and choreography. They put a lot of effort into their performances, and their enthusiasm was evident not only during halftime, but throughout every game and traditional march back to school. "The band this year was fabulous, and I wouldn't change it for the world. We all pulled together and did our part. The music was fantastic and seeing everyone cheering in the stands left all of us energetic and ready to celebrate back in the band room," said senior Jake Kimball.

Under the direction of Mr. Govertson, band members in both Concert Band and Symphonic Band come to create different styles of music for their peers and parents at concerts. Different instruments such as a bassoon, french horn and piccolo come into a singular piece and create a new sound. "Being in band is great because you get to work with the man, the legend, Mr. G!" said senior Tyler Hunter. Whether the composer is Mozart, Mahler or Ke$ha, band approached each song with appropriate style and feeling. "One thing that will always stick with me is that you can't create good group music without a solid conductor and Mr. Govertson has done just that," said junior Kelsey Wolf. After witnessing those in band, it is without doubt that the students take their craft seriously and would be proud to call themselves band geeks any day.

Color Guard tirelessly entertains crowds at every football game. One of the best parts of their season was performing to "Poker Face" at the Lady Gaga halftime show. After all the hard work of choreographing and practicing, the girls had fun performing the complicated routine, and all their efforts paid off. The girls did a great job performing during each game and parade, making friends and unforgettable memories. "I loved choreographing routines with old friends, as well as getting to know and become closer with the new members," said Elizabeth Youngwith, a junior. Whether it was their first or final year on the squad, the girls always had fun and made many friends throughout the season. "I have been on color guard all four years of high school, and it was one of the best decisions I have ever made. The experiences were great, and I have made so many friends. Nothing can replace that," said senior Anna Spyrison.

The Girls Tennis season went fairly, a lot more girls tried out this year. We had about 20 freshmen tryout this year, and we actually had to split up the JV team, considering we only have a varsity and JV team, this year we had Varsity, JV, and JV 1 so that was good! Thinking back to the most memorable moment, it was when all the tennis girls, after sectionals, went to Panera Bread, and the whole team bonded, that was fun! The team improved so much, a lot more girls tried out and I'm positive that next year will have a lot more wins and so much more memories! Just like any other sport, there's always drama, but in the end the team was a team, when it came down to real business, and I really doubt there will be another team like this one. -

Varsity Boy's Soccer

This year was a banner year for the West Chicago varsity soccer team. The boys had to prove they were down to business by scoring one goal at a time. They came 2nd in the DVC in a barn burner against Naperville North by losing in the last two minutes. Louis Boers states, "This season has been unbelievably great. We were champions of the Hogan Tournament invitational, we came out with awesome wins against Naperville Central, Wheaton-Warrenville South, and Glenbard North and we had two players with more goals than entire teams. Not many teams can say that." Under the leadership of captains Richard Paret and Esteban Fernandez, the team went 17-6-3 for the season, and had numerous individuals recognized for All-Conference, All-Sectional, and even All-State.

"We feel this is one of the best West Chicago soccer teams in the time that I have been coaching here," Coach Brugmann said. "It's going to be huge with the 11 seniors that are going to be going out. It's kids like these that make me enjoy coaching."

The boy's golf team always had a great time at practice. The five seniors involved had been playing together for four years, so the team was very close. One of the highlights of the season was beating Wheaton North, where the Wildcat's hard work paid off, allowing them a great win. They also placed fourth in DVC, and senior Kyle Martens went to sectionals. They had a great season and all of the seniors said they will miss playing for our high team but they feel like they left the team in great hands.

Girl's golf placed fourth in DVC this year, achieving their highest slot yet. The team also shot their lowest group score in the 9-hole and 18-hole, breaking previous WeGo records. Sophomore Hanna Netisingha was the second Wildcat player ever to make it to the 2011 sectionals.

No matter what, the girls had a great time; playing on the course, riding the bus, or spending time together outside of school.

"Our team is a lot smaller than normal sports teams, and it's nice to have people to lean on during difficult times, whether the problem is about golf or outside of golf," said senior Aubrie Sole.

With many returning players, the team had even greater chances of success.

"My favorite part about being on our team is everyone got along. Watching everyone improve from the year before and from the beginning of the season, was really awesome to see. Everyone gave it their all, but they all had fun doing it," said senior Sarah Quealy.

Over the summer the cross country team train hard and run together early in the morning to prepare for the upcoming season. This year those summer workouts paid off in a successful season. Junior Jared Baranowski said "We really had fun this year and bonding with the team was the best part. The seniors definitely made it a great time. I am really excited for next year and summer running" The team is dedicated to working hard and running together. They started each race in a group and tried to end together as well. At each competition they try to improve their personal records and run their hardest. Senior Marcus De La Torre said "I've been in cross country for all four years and each year has been a great experience with the different obstacles I have had overcome to do my best. And if there is one thing I've learned, it doesn't matter how you start, it's how you end that does."

Running long distances requires much determination, will power, and energy. To get this energy flowing, the team of thirty girls would scream their motto, "Make 'em bleed!" before meets to pump everyone up. This ritual paid off because the girls had a lot of success in the beginning of the year, consisting of a few trophies and personal bests. Senior Kelsey Sayner says, "We surprised ourselves with our times and places at meets. As always, the team got along really well and we made some great memories." Some of the best memories are made during off-season with an annual trip to Lorado Taft at the end of the summer where the girls run up and down a flight of 250 steps for thirty-five minutes. Another aspect of their off-season is running up and down the sand dunes of Lake Michigan. Sayner says these are, "some of the most difficult workouts of the year." To stay conditioned throughout the year, the team practices every Monday through Thursday after school, while Fridays consist of morning aqua jogs and meets on Saturdays.

Finishing off the season with a 25-13 record, the Varsity team had a very successful season, which included knocking Geneva High School out of the regional title. "Senior Night was another important match because it honored graduating seniors. It was also the last home game, which was against Naperville Central High School," stated Sophomore Devan Orr. One of the challenges the girls had was being mentally prepared to go against the more skilled teams. Coach Hasty would also like to thank Seniors Payton Bayless, Julia Conard, and Emily Warkins for bringing the team to such a competitive level. "They will all be missed."

Dance Production

Senior Focus

Juliet Santelli

The girls spent a lot of time outside of school working on dances, but for senior Juliet Santelli, the practices were also an opportunity to make memories. "As a senior being on Dance Production all four years, there have been so many great memories. Some of my favorites would probably be when the dancers warm up together in the energy circle, and on the nights of the show when we have bonding time and go swimming at the school."

The curtains rose on the Dance Production show with the opening duet to the song "Collide." The theme "Save the Last Dance" was voted on by the class of twenty-one girls. During each number, the stage was illuminated with colorful lighting and a few routines incorporated strobe lights. In addition to duets, the show featured many small group dances and one class dance for each grade. A diverse range of styles were covered, including anything from lyrical pieces, hip-hop, and country. The finale to the theme "Footloose" was the girls' most memorable routine to perform, and also a crowd favorite.

Hard work and dedication was the key to the girls' successful show. Their practice schedule included meeting during their regular schedule day, outside rehearsal, over Winter Break, and an extensive amount of time during the weeks leading up to the show.

Teacher Julie Wyller says, "I like to remind and instill the importance of enjoying the journey because the destination (dance show) is only a two-night event and the culminating experience is throughout the semester." She encourages the class, "to put on their best performance; execute their movement, enjoy the dances that they have worked so hard perfecting, perform and give back to the audience."

One Talent at a Time

The Variety Show

At Community High School's annual Variety Show, Wildcats from every grade level swallow their fear, shoo away the butterflies, and mount the stage to display their unique talents and abilities to all. Braving the stage like this requires a unique combination of poise, determination, and an iron will... or in some cases just a relentless desire to frighten the audience into laughing.

At this year's show, the acts consisted primarily of Wildcats making music and strutting their stuff on the dance floor. Instrumentally speaking, guitars abounded, although the ivories were also tickled from time to time. Perhaps the most memorable performance of the evening was the "interpretive" dance put on by a group of short-shorted seniors who scandalized all in attendance with their Elvis-besting hip-shaking and gratuitous gyrating. Thankfully, the night also included much sonorous melody-making, and everyone present was grateful to have their ears soothed, especially after having had their eyes traumatized by the aforementioned group of boys. All in all, the night showcased the most talented Cats in a memorable and fun way.

"The Variety Show has been such a great time to be in, in high school. I have been a part of it for the past four years and its a time for anyone with something to share with the rest of us, whether it is music, dancing, comedic stand-up, or something personal. It takes guts for people to go on that stage and publicly share something and I commend everyone who has ever done it. That rush of the chance to perform is indescribable. It's something I will miss about high school." said Schofield

Along with debates, individuals are given courtesy titles to represent figures in government from Speaker of the House to the Chief Executive. Most importantly, government is a way to learn how to handle topics appropriately and argue policies, not people.

Working together with a handful of teachers and students to put it together was a blast, and I got to know so many new people. Snowball was a place where you could be yourself, and be open with complete strangers and still feel welcomed and at home. The show was a super funny comedy about a corky family, and what was awesome was that by the end of the show the cast and crew had really grown together into a family. Basketball is a sport of hard work, determination, and most importantly, teamwork. The biggest obstacle for all teams to overcome was working together. There were many upsets over the season including the loss to "one of our rivals, Wheaton North," claimed senior Brian Baidis, and "Chatham Glenwood in overtime," according to Mundt. The WeGo swim team finished the season achieving more points as a team at sectionals than in past seasons. They are a tight-knit team that encourages each other to do their best. The captains are role models and take their leadership role seriously. The men's head swim coach, Nicole Cleveland, promotes team focus and the swimmers to give her 100% of everything they have at practice and asks that the same intensity translates into their meet performances as well. Captains Marcus Delatorre, Jack Eichenberger, and Marc Cole all agree the team has improved compared to previous years and it can only get better. The practices are intense and go on for two and a half hours, but it all pays off when they beat teams like Leyden high school, Marcus Delatorre said, "Their team was three times bigger, but we still crushed them and their coach even broke down and cried." By the end of the year the team accomplished a lot and is ready for 2012-2013 year to get even better

"One of the things I love about our swim team is that we're all so close knit," said junior Maya Skorupski. The day before each meet the girls decorate their "sister's" lockers and have a pasta party. Right before meets, they do a few cheers to lighten the mood, and during DVC, Sectionals, and State, they exchange presents. The smaller than usual team may seem like a disadvantage, but it allows the girls to get along better and be comfortable with each other. Their closeness was very beneficial during morning and after school practices where the team worked on many different strokes ranging from long distance free-style to sprints.

Still, the girls remained positive throughout the beginning of the season, but found it difficult to have a good mentality towards the middle, when nerves started to get the best of them. Their bond helped them get through tough times. "We pulled together nicely and had a great end to our season," said Skorupski.

Community High School students are offered the opportunity to play team hockey competitively on the Wildhawk hockey team - a combined team comprised of students from CHS, Wheaton Academy, St. Francis, Wheaton North, and Bartlett High Schools. This year's team had an exceptional and memorable season, finishing second in state after a heartbreakingly close loss in the championship game played before a hopeful Wildcat audience at the United Center in Chicago. Juniors Jason Wiedmeyer, Ryan Cooper, Jacob Somen, and goalie Kyle "Sticks" Nielson all made key contributions to the team's overall success, as did seniors Austin Wiedmeyer, Zach Lenning, and Mac Kwasnik. "It was an amazing year for us," recalls Ryan Cooper, "but I'd be lying if I said we weren't already all thinking about finishing what we started next year with a first-place finish at the United Center. It's our goal to give our growing fanbase the championship it deserves."

This year was by far the most productive season I have experienced in all for years at We-Go. Even though we faced many challenges throughout the season, such as not filling a full roster, losing wrestlers to injury and academics, and competing in the DVC- which is considered to be the toughest conference in the state for the sport, as a team, we were ranked as an honorable mention for the 3A class and we started the season 7-0. This year four wrestlers advanced from regionals to sectionals Tyler Svestka and Robert (who was regional champ) Svestka at 120lbs and 138lbs, Dan King at 170lbs, and John Carlos (at heavy Weight). At sectionals both Tyler Svestka and Robert Svestka placed fourth and qualified for the state tournament and were given All Conference recognition. After getting shut out by conference rival and wrestling powerhouse, Glenbard North last season, we were able to put a stop to another shut out with three wins against them this year. Wrestlers who received awards for the season included Dan King Most Valuable Wrestler, John Carlos Most Improved Wrestler, and Austin Kordick was awarded the Coaches Award and Iron Man. -Dan King

3. Boarding the Titanic are the Astors, a wealthy American couple played by freshmen Ben Skipor and Lina Szremski.

A Vision of Greatness

Senior Louis Boers stars as the builder of the Titanic, Thomas Andrews. He sets up the beginning of the show with the song, In Every Age. Andrews gives the element of foreshadowing with his uncertain demeanor of Titanic's success. The best aspect of Mr. Andrews' part in the show is his song selections. He has this deep realization towards the end of the show that this is his doing and I think that was a powerful moment especially in the song "Mr. Andrews' Vision" said Boers.

The Spring Musical: Titanic

SAIL ON!
Both passengers and crew join in the chorus to sing the traditional hymn, God Save Me Up.

To tie off the year and fit in with WeGo Drama's theme of, Every Moment Matters, the students and staff took on Titanic: The Musical, in a way to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the sinking of Titanic. "I chose Titanic because it isn't an easy show and it pushes the students to improve. I wanted the audience to realize the time and effort the students put in for this caliber of a show," said director, Mr. Begovich.

SPOILER ALERT: The boat sinks.*

As many know, Titanic is infamously known for sinking on April 15, 1912. It was called the largest moving object of its time, but most called it the ship of dreams. Titanic: The Musical, took a different approach to the story by focusing its storyline around the actual passengers and crew members on board as opposed to the movie. The various storylines and styles took the audience back to 1912, where class and your name meant everything. Along with social class divides, struggle between doing what is right, power and love are thrown in to show the struggles of those on board. "What happened to those aboard Titanic is truly a tragedy, but from it we have symbolic stories that we can learn from and this show has done just that," stated junior, Daniel Stompor.

Show Me Watchu Got is an annual spoken word event. From musical performances, deep poetry to rap. We celebrate wego's best and finest talent by putting on a show that showcases our written work. This was the first year that we had the show mostly directed by a student director. Everyone came together and really showed that the WCHS writing club is a powerful presence in our school. Coordinator, Ms. Cordes, states "This event gives the student body something to marvel at. We have so much talent in this school and Show Me Watchu Got is just one event to showcase our diverse and versatile school. Whether students like to rap, sing, write original works or perform; this is an event to celebrate the spoken word. And that's why we're here".

Speech is commonly referred to 'track and field of the mouth' because there are fourteen individual events including comedy, duet acting-both dramatic and humorous, radio, poetry, limited prep, and 'classic speeches.' There is something for everyone! Mr. Lichy, the head coach, along with the captains Farrell Lewis and Abe Fernandez loved working with this year's team which consisted of over thirty talented speakers. This season our team went to a tournament almost every Saturday, with the exception of the holiday break. The team started off with a couple novice tournaments, proceeded with a number of other invitationals. In most tournaments there are three preliminary rounds and then concluded with a final round for each event. The finals are determined by the results on the preliminary rounds. The top six speakers in each event 'break' into the final round. In all the invites we attended, not including the state series, twenty-four speakers broke and placed in their event! The state series was also successful this year. In the Regional Tournament, of the fourteen events, eight broke into a final round. Of those eight two placed in the top four in their event and advanced to the Sectional Tournament, Megan Tennis in Informative Speaking place third and Farrell Lewis placed fourth in Impromptu Speaking. The success continued at the Sectional Tournament where both Farrell and Megan broke into final rounds! Farrell placed third in Impromptu and qualified for the State Finals! Final rounds or not, everyone had fun, learned a lot, and worked hard-the hardware was just extra. We all are champions and refuse to lose. -Farrell Lewis

For some, Choir is that class that one can sit down, appreciate music, learn, and truly bond as a group. Choir is that time in the day where students can share their love of different genres of music and perform it for their peers. "Choir is a great time with talented people, it takes you away from the realities of high school," Jonathon Sanders states, "It's where some of my best high school memories and friends have been made". There are different choirs with different styles of music, ages, and parts. Most freshmen, sophomores or anyone new to music start off in Mixed Chorus, a choir which emphasizes music theory fundamentals. Women's Chorale is for more experienced women singers and Concert Choir consists of mainly upperclassmen and more difficult pieces of music. Another choir is A Cappella Chamber Choir which is an auditioned for ensemble. What makes A Cappella different is that the group sings with no instrumental help. These students enjoy music so much that they wake up for zero hour, perform outside of school, and learn up to 45 additional songs throughout the year on top of being in another choir.

Choir Students all have their favorite moments in choir. "My favorite song we sang this year was Africa by Toto, it was just fun and had great energy" said Pilar Bonilla. Choir President, Louis Boers states, "My favorite song we sang this year is Wanting Memories by Barnwell, but my favorite memory would be the choir trip to Disney World!" Another element of choir is the fun field trips taken by the students and the director. The field trips switch from a professionally done musical show in Chicago to a cross country trip to somewhere of musical importance every other year. This year the choir made a trip to Disney to perform at the Waterside Stage in Downtown Disney. Choir Director, Mr. Fantozzi explains, "I like doing these field trips because I believe learning doesn't just take place in the classroom and that you learn more from experiences in other places as opposed to in a classroom". Whether you are a member of Mixed Chorus or Concert Choir or any other choir, you are treated as part of the family and it is all because of a shared bond for the love of music.

Working hard every day pays off as the orchestra plays to their utmost ability with attentiveness to every note. Senior violinist Thomas Kubik enjoys "watching the whole orchestra progress with the music and seeing it all come together for the concert." Being together every day gives the orchestra a unique experience. "It's a fun environment to be in and to be a part of with everyone," says Kubik. Friendships are forged between stand partners and classmates over difficult music. Junior violinist Katie Yackey says "It's very rewarding when we come to a really difficult section and after a lot of practice and hardwork we finally lock-in and sound really good." There is a rush that comes from playing on the stage in front of many friends and family. Working through adrenaline is a big key into performing well and also helps in other aspects of life such as dealing with pressure and stressful situations.

First-year orchestra conductor Ms. Zabelin describes orchestra as "a class for string players in which students enhance their knowledge of their instruments as well as the beauty of music literature and performance." The orchestra also has the opportunity to participate in a variety of festivals and concerts such as the trip to the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in the winter. Freshman cellist Mae Elizabeth Gimre says she "really likes all the people, the awesome conductor Ms. Zabelin, and the music we get to play." Junior Kathy Mira joined orchestra her freshman year because she liked how people played the violin and wanted to learn herself. She also enjoys the music the orchestra performs, but above all Kathy enjoys the concerts most. Orchestra players also have the opportunity to attend zero-hour once a week to practice in smaller groups with their own section and experience one-on-one assistance from Ms. Zabelin.

Boy's Baseball

The baseball team got off to a great start to the year winning the first two games with a commanding pitching as well as putting up lots of runs versus Tinley Park and St. Edwards. Then we went on to beat Grant 9-5 in who later finished third in the state. One of the bright spots early on was seeing some of the younger players get a good feel for varsity baseball. Sophomore Ryan Koester and junior pitcher/infielder Mike Zajac played some big roles and were very successful, especially early on in the season. I will be looking forward to seeing them help the program out in the coming years. Unfortunately, we hit a losing streak during the middle of the year, the bats just didn't seem to come around as much as hoped. The highlight of the year came in a 8-5 victory over West Aurora with junior Mike Zajac getting the win on the mound. It was a great win in a rough patch of the season. Many of the seniors have been playing together since 5th and 6th grade and it is sad to see all these years come to an end but the memories will last forever.

The softball team shot down any doubts about their abilities and the quality of their 2011-2012 season. The Wildcats finished third in DVC and had two underdog victories during regionals to gain a regional championship title for the third consecutive year. They went out on the field every day, ready to prove to everyone that they were still an amazing team. The team was competitive and aggressive on the field and had a lot of fun, memorable times off the field. Each girl had a lot of character and the team got along really well. Senior Casey Christ said, "It was enjoyable to play as a senior knowing that we had a great team that played to win but knew how to have fun at the same time. The past four years of being a Wildcat softball player will impact my life in the long run and has shaped who I am." The girls were more than just a team; they became a family by the end of the one of their most memorable seasons yet.

After a memorable season full of tradition and hard work, the boys track team focused on personal bests and competing at their highest level. The very fulfilled season included memorable personal best for example Victor Mendez breaking 55 seconds in the 400 and Thomas Kubik jumping 12'9" in the pole vault. Along with sprinters, long distance and jumpers, another aspect of the track team are the throwers. "The throwing team has a lot of potential coming from Sophomores Andrew Zak and Alex Celmer who both threw over 40 feet in the shot put and Freshman Abraham Mendez and Andy Berumen throwing over 110 feet in the discus." says senior Andrew Kruthoff. With all of the hard work and efforts throughout the season, the boys track team became a big family with bonds that will stay with them forever. "The memories will last forever." says Junior Chance Coats.

As the year came to an end, the Girls Track and Field team couldn't be more ecstatic about how their hard work finally paid off, with returning Varsity runner, Lali Valdivia qualifying to run in the State meet. Other girls such as Lindsey Sayner broke the school record in the mile with an incredible time of 5 minutes and 17 seconds and Sarah Triner coming half a second shy of the 300 Hurdles State qualifying time. Also Carla Dannug missed going to state in long jump by only 1/4 of an inch. With such an amazing end of the season, the girls are continuing to work hard throughout the rest of the year, to be ready for the competition that comes with another year of practice. Junior Julia Caithamer states "I love my team and I know I wouldn't have ever made it through all the hard practices and sometimes depressing meets without the support of them. They always encourage me to do my best and if I feel like I can't do it for myself, I know I have to do it for them."

Girls soccer had a lot of positions to replace after last years graduation and found help from underclassmen as the season went on. Some growing pains were felt as the team was struggling with possession issues, but gelled better as games progressed. "We know what we have to do in our heads, but it just doesn't read to what our feet are doing sometimes. We have very talented girls and I think we're starting to realize that we can compete if we just relax and play simple" said coach Gomez. Spearheaded by captains Jessica Quinn and Bianca Navejas, the team had notable wins against DVC competitors, Wheaton North and Glenbard North.

Although many think of a sport and team to only exist on a field, many would reconsider after witnessing the members of the girls soccer teams' bonding sessions. Pasta parties, trips to Chicago, and hangout sessions were often taken and most will say that they'll truly miss this team. "I love my team; we got really close this year so it will be weird that some of my friends aren't coming back, but I'm looking forward to next years season," said junior Lauren Ott.

Varsity was relatively young this year with only five senior players. But our juniors really stepped it up this year. The team had ups and we had our downs but with a tough conference they finished well. There were a lot of individual efforts this past season. Alex Marano not only played an unknown position his senior night but he was the best player on the court. Jim Ogorzalek stepped it up this season by being an overwhelming force at the net and having the most solo blocks. Joey Martin was our setter this season. When you're a setter people judge every set you make and it can be really hard on players but Joey didn't lose his cool, he stepped it up this year and gave us a chance to win every night. Liam Flaherty was the floor captain for varsity this year and received awards for player of the month, all-area special mention and all-conference first team DVC. Some memories from the past season were winning the Waukegan tournament, freshman players asking varsity players for a "man card", and winning their first game of the season against Glenbard North.

Coming in as a freshman tennis player at West Chicago I was unsure of what I was to expect, albeit the season exceeded the expectations that I did have. The tennis year began in March with unseasonably warm weather; whereas we were able to begin practicing outdoors very early. All this practice in the beginning really helped carry us through the tough conference matches, as well as the non-conference competition. I must say for me the best part of the year was seeing the growth in each and every player from the beginning to the end. For example, I had lost my first conference match against Naperville Central in a blow out (2-6,1-6) and then faced them in the last conference match with a much improved outcome, where they were ranked third and I was ranked sixth. Once again Central defeated me, though this time it lasted much longer as I was defeated in the third set by the scores of 7-6(12-10), 4-6, 5-7: I had even managed to get three match points, though unfortunately I was unable to bring home a win. It was still the most memorable experience for me as our match was the first one on and the last one off the courts, therefore all the players from other schools were in the stands watching us battle back and forth for a few minutes under three hours. I'll never forget the hard work and dedication us players and Coaches Moeaki/Toms put into the season. Go Wildcats!

The badminton team began their season with many additions.

New coaches, Mrs. Wood and Mr. Bacheller, constantly encouraged the girls and helped them improve.

"They are great additions to our badminton team because, along with their great coaching skills, they brought a sense of empowerment to the whole team," said senior Maria Garcia.

New team members were welcomed by the other girls and the team became very close throughout the season due to various bonding activities, like pasta parties and bonfires.

The girls worked hard to improve their individual scores and win split matches.

This lacrosse season started off a little rough for both varsity and JV, but came together towards the end as the teams began to mesh with each other. Losing twelve seniors last year left a big gap to be filled by the new players being moved up from JV and returning varsity players who all did an amazing job. Overall, it was an extremely fun season with Coach Kutilek, Matt, Scott, Rhodes, Blake, and Brad. Good luck to all new and returning players next year.

Club members are all smiles while posing with colorful posters and delicious candy before the homecoming parade.

In Horticulture Club, the students learn many uses for plants and have frequent opportunities to volunteer around the community. Mrs. Stieglitz, the club sponsor, says "We typically do crafty things with plants around the holidays and at any school activities we can help out with." During the fall season the club members stated that they enjoyed providing community service to senior citizens by helping them rake leaves. Members also bond over volunteer work at Relay For Life and other projects around the high school. At the end of the year, members participate in a group dinner where they bring in different dishes and bond over food and talking. When spring comes around, members have a unique opportunity to develop their skills in the greenhouse by growing and taking care of plants.

Student Council gives the students say in our school. Each grade is represented by their own peers that they elect. The students work together to create unforgettable moments for all of CHS. They are the people who brought you Homecoming, Prom, dodgeball tournaments, spirit weeks, care packages for finals, and much more. This year they organized Chicago Sports Homecoming, where the senior class won the Float Building competition for their fourth consecutive year. Students danced their heart out as all the hard work of the Prom Committee paid off during A Night on the Nile Prom. And seniors left their mark by donating a mural to help beautify the school. The members of Student Council dedicated themselves to holding amazing school events and more importantly, helping the school and the surrounding community.

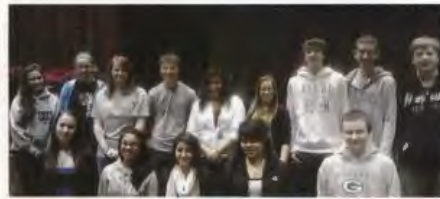

Formerly known as Key Club, the newly named Interact Club continued to sponsor many events this year, including the fall and spring blood drives and leaf raking for senior citizens with the West Chicago Youth Commission. "I want the kids to become more self-aware of the opportunities around them in their own community and to realize the importance of community service," said club sponsor Gavin Engel. The club also helped the park district with their Halloween event, Frosty Fest, and Chili Fest with the West Chicago Fire Department. Students have a great time being involved in the numerous Interact Club activities throughout the year. "It's a great way to be involved and meet new people," said sophomore Alyssa Colon regarding her experience in the club. "It's a win-win situation because community members benefit from our work and our members feel good about doing it," said Mr. Engel.

This year's Math Team made a number of fun memories. Although their season got off to a later-than-usual beginning, the team gelled quickly and made a real push to succeed at the annual DVC math tournament. Along the way, they practiced diligently and ate good food as often as possible, most notably at their DVC-week pizza party and their pre-DVC Portillo's dinner.

Bringing a slightly larger-than-normal team to DVC, Coach Jennings divided the team into starters and alternates. While starters competed in individual and team rounds of competition, alternates kept themselves fresh by playing pickup basketball and preparing encouraging signs and cards for starters. Although the team was slightly less successful than they'd hoped to be at DVC, everyone involved enjoyed a truly memorable season, and a number of lasting friendships were made.

This year the Yearbook club members put their best effort into making this yearbook the best it can be. Each day after school Wednesday meetings and Saturday work days brought not only the yearbook together but brought the club together. This is the second year that Junior Jessica Newman has been in the club and she truly enjoys it, "Yearbook club this year consisted of hard work, mean-girl quotes, food, deep conversations, and one weird family dynamic!" Also Junior Jackie Fitzgerald couldn't agree more, "I have loved getting to know the small little family we have created at Yearbook club! I am also going to miss the times we have shared there!" As this year comes to an end the members had to continue to meet outside of school and work their hardest to get the yearbook complete.

The girls relax at a competition with other step teams.

From performing at DVC back in 2009 with only four members to performing at the state competition this year with more than twenty members, the Sole Steppers have truly come a long way. The season began with one goal: to bring home the DVC title. Their journey was a rough one especially when the team was struggling to stay together and be recognized by the school as an activity, but in the end these steppers have proven to everyone that one can accomplish their dreams if they have determination, dedication, discipline, and simply have faith.

The team started the season with a clean slate, even the new sponsors, Miss Gonzalez and Mrs. Garcia, who have done an amazing job. With the help from a choreographer, Anthony, creating the perfect routine was the first step. The coaches and choreographer were a huge help and have been the team's number one fans and supporters. With the entire team sharing the same goal, there was no turning back and preventing these steppers from stomping their way to success.

DVC, being a tremendous accomplishment since they were the first generation of steppers to win the title, only made the team more determined to climb to the top to compete with the best of the best. This event definitely brought them closer together and they weren't going to finish their journey there. From participating in workshops and community events, like WeGo to the North Pole, the Sole Steppers were making themselves known while also making a difference in the community. After competing throughout Illinois it came time to perform on the big stage. Despite placing 4th in state, that hasn't stopped them from doing what they love. This team plans to prosper in the years to come, but one thing is for sure; they 'stepped into the unknown and they made it known'.

-Ariel Beruman

NHS is a group of students dedicated to bettering their education, providing leadership and giving back to the community. Being a part of NHS in high school was a great experience. My best memory of NHS was definitely the pancake breakfast for mothers day. It was incredible to see everyone come together to support Anna's Hope, especially since I have such a personal connection with the organization. It was great to see so many people interested in our cause and to have all of our peers support us in raising awareness. We raised $1000 for Anna's Hope and set a great example for all of the other NHS students, not just in our school, but nationally too. It was really great to be able to give back to Anna after she had given so much to us girls that knew her; and having our fellow NHS members want to help was so amazing. It was such a humbling experience and probably one of the greatest moments in my high school career. - Hailey Lenahan

We-Go Buddies is an exciting and unique club at the high school that is way different than other clubs. The club is made up of "buddies" who were born with disabilities such as down syndrome, cerebral palsy, autism, etc. Students join the club to form new friendships and break barriers that are sometimes caused. We-Go Buddies partakes on adventurous activities such as going to see the newest movies, mini golfing, Enchanted Castle, baseball games, and so much more! It is very interesting to see things in life from a new perspective; being in the club makes you look at the world in a different light. The students in this club are all amazing, open minded individuals looking to not only make a difference in the school, but the community as well. We-Go Buddies opens up many new doors such as the Valentine's Day dance sponsored by Western DuPage Special Recreation Association. Each year at this dance, there are dozens of other special needs individuals in our community and it is great to see everyone interact with each other. One of the buddies from our school formed a relationship with another buddy from a different school and has kept it for the past two years! People usually don't realize how much it means to one of the buddies just by saying a simple "Hello". The cheek-to-cheek smile you get from them after just a simple wave or greeting in the hallways is honestly the most genuine form of sincerity one could ever see. The best part about the buddies is that they are never judgemental and are simply out looking to form friendships with new people. Everyday is a fun day with We-Go Buddies and new members are always welcome!

The 2011-2012 school year was another great year for West Chicago FBLA. Students participated in events throughout the year such as the window painting during homecoming week, and the annual FBLA variety show. Perhaps the highlight of the year was at the FBLA State Competition. Many students made the overnight trip to Decatur for one fun-filled weekend. As students competed in various events they were then able to relax a little at the dance on the first night and meet students from across the state. In the end three students: Brian Baidis, Megan Matson, and Vishal Disawar qualified for the National Competition in San Antonio, Texas.

Trips to Chicago this year included Chinatown, the Art Institute, the Shedd Aquarium and the Lincoln Park Zoo. Closer to home, we went ice skating and volunteered at the Wheaton Food Pantry. What's the most popular trip? Judith Zuñiga who is a member of the Anime Club, liked Chinatown best for its friendly people and exotic, reasonably priced food and gifts. New member Farhad Alhamy liked the service project; as Vice President of the club next year, he will work to organize more service opportunities for the OLA'AS. For freshman Joanna Garcia, ice skating is becoming a family tradition, since her brother Art never missed a skating trip before graduating last year. Mohammad Al-Kubaisi also loves skating. The Bilingual and Foreign Language honors night is a ceremony that takes place to recognize students who have excelled in at least two years of a foreign language. French, German, and Spanish students were recognized and received certificates of their success. In addition to those students, there were a few members who received special recognition for their fluency in two languages while learning and maintaining honors in a third language. The night was full of speeches and pictures to honor the students and entire foreign language department at WeGo. Each language group participated in a pledge led by upper classmen that was recited in each respective language. The pledge took place so students could express their dedication to the language they studied. Students and audience members also had the opportunity to listen to a WeGo alumni key note speaker share her story of how learning a foreign language has improved and impacted her life in a positive way. She encouraged the group of students to continue the study of language in hopes that it will open many doors of opportunity in the future.

Broadcast Production is a unique course at Community High School. Students work to complete short films and informational news segments over the course of the semester. Each week, the best of these creations is featured on our own in-house television program, Wildcat Weekly.

This year's Broadcast Production students truly went above and beyond the call of duty, conceptualizing and creating a number of additional films, including a teacher thank you video in November and the first-ever Community High School LipDub: "Be True to Your City." To cap off their year, a number of these students won platinum awards at the annual CTEC Video Festival, an area competition between schools with similar programs. After receiving such outstanding recognition within their field, the West Chicago City Council invited the students responsible for creating the LipDub to City Hall to receive special recognition for the work they'd done in uniting the community and inspiring a real sense of school pride.

The Wildcat Chronicle had another award winning year bringing the students and staff news, entertainment, sports, and their opinions on it all. Despite their struggles with low numbers, just seven people turned out the first semester of newspapers. The journalism class was more like an extracurricular for students who stayed late nights to make sure the paper was perfect. Their dedication kept them in the lab until 10 at night and their persistence made each paper improve. Editors ventured to New York to learn more about their craft and had the rare opportunity to teach others how they succeed. Being the only student group presenting, The Chronicle staff stood out from all the rest. The staff members poured their hearts into every issue.

Keyuri Parmar returns from interviewing a student.

Senior Farewell

SAYING GOODBYE IS SUCH SWEET SORROW

What advice do you have for incoming students and next years class?

Above: Deirdre Hofman gives a speech to send off her peers. "I'm honored to have been chosen to be our class valedictorian. I have been working on this honor for quite a while and to be recognized for this honor is such a blessing," said Hofman.

"Getting involved in clubs or sports is a great way to meet new friends. Most importantly, keep your grades up!"
-Diana Serio

"Be true to yourself. Those who matter won't question who you are and those who do, don't matter."
-Ramon Cruz

"Joining clubs in high school has been one of my best decisions. How else would I have met my other half, Elena Tubridy?"

Teacher Speaker

Left: Miss Cordes was chosen to give the teachers speech. "When I got the news, I was in awe and eager at the same time. Having the chance to be recognized by the class of '12 and to speak on their behalf was such an honor. They will truly be missed. My one piece of advice still stands: Find your love, your passion, and you'll be fine," said Cordes.

They were once just baby wildcats...
