Aloha, Wildcats!

Leis and grass skirts in October in Illinois? Yes, the Hawaiian theme gave WCCHS a special island flair during Homecoming week. Traditional activities included hall-decorating, pie-eating contest, floats, window-painting, apples and worms, parade, tricycle race, coronation, and T-shirt day. Football Wildcats made the week complete with two victories over Wheaton-Warrenville. Events concluded with the Homecoming dance on Saturday, October 17.

Class Of Eighty-three

The Class of 1983 won the float competition during Homecoming, for the third consecutive time, and window painting. To earn money for Prom, juniors sponsored five car washes, three concessions, and a magic show; they also sold class T-shirts. Prom was Friday, May 28, at Villa Olivia. (See pages 134 and 135.) First-Place Ranking for BRIDGE

The BRIDGE received a first-place ranking from Columbia Scholastic Press Association for the third successive year and from the American Scholastic Press Association for the second successive year. In Quill and Scroll national writing contest Dave Barry received first place, sports writing, and John Watanabe, first place, feature writing. Senior editors attended Journalism Education Association Conference, Kansas City, where Dave Barry received honorable mention, sports writing, and Debbie Rathjen, second place, advertising. Staff members also attended conferences at the Universities of Wisconsin and Illinois and taught journalism classes at the junior high school.

National Honor Society For Fifty-five Seniors

Fifty-five seniors were initiated into National Honor Society on Tuesday, December 8. Initiates, parents, and faculty members attended the ceremony in the Learning Resource Center. Members were chosen on the basis of character, service, leadership, and scholarship by faculty members. The selected seniors, a maximum fifteen percent of the class, had to have a B average to be eligible.

Student Support Project

Student Support Project, SSP, supervised by Robert Owens, gave students the opportunity to act as counsellor-advisors to freshmen. The seniors also trained juniors who will be counsellors next year.

Busy Year For Student Council

Student Council coordinated Homecoming activities, sponsored the spring film, Christmas and Turnabout dances, and two blood drives. They participated in an exchange program with Rockford East H.S., a fun fair, and the American Heart Association's Rock and Roll Jamboree. Members were responsible for elections, guides for Open House and Freshman Parents' Night, "It's Academic" competition against Glenbard North and Wheaton-Warrenville, and monitoring the "Bike-a-thon" for American Cancer Society. They purchased artwork for display in WCHS, operated concessions at basketball games, and provided popcorn for VICA football concessions.

Swimming And Swinging

Two sections of adapted physical education were added for those students who have limitations and can not participate in the regular physical education activities. Life saving class was offered as a nine-week elective swim class for the first time during the regular physical education class. Several students received their Red Cross life saving cards. Sophomores presented some creative square dances during their required dance class. Each set of dancers composed calls and sequences of square dance steps and presented them to the rest of the class.

Students Dramatize Historic Events

American history became real to students in George Strecker's classes when they took the parts of historical figures and "lived" their experiences. In the spring Mike Sosulski, Wendy Pope, Julie Sullivan, and Jay Nelson participated in the Regional competition of the Chicago Metro History Fair at Morton High School, Berwyn. Essayists Mike, Wendy, and Julie advanced to the final competition. Locally Stuart Schuette received the DAR History Award. (See p. 93.)
