It Takes All Kinds

Being a teenager in high school may be a frustrating time. With the right variety of activities, clubs, sports, classes, and people, it may be an unbelievable experience.

It takes all kinds of people to make your high school experience different. There are the athletic people, the popular kids, and those who just sit there. It is those different kinds of people which make high school fun. Tammi Buckner said, "I like all the people because you make lots of friends for years to come and there are plenty of guys to look at during class instead of paying attention." Plus, there are the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors combined. Kelli Ransone said the best part about having all these different levels is, "being at the top of the food chain and having others get out of the way."

It takes all kind of classes. In junior high you are told what classes to take, with no variety. Here, you may choose your English, gym, or science classes. If you have one extra spot you are able to choose an elective, such as a foreign language, child development, cooking, or a clothing class. Becky Fritz commented that, "Having so many different types of classes gives you a chance to make many different friends that stay with you 'til the end."

It takes all kinds of activities. There are the dances, pep assemblies, variety shows, and Mr. Wildcat shows. At the dances we may talk to our friends or meet new ones and get on track with the recent gossip. During the pep assemblies, we cheer the teams on with a little school spirit. At the Homecoming assembly, we are given the chance to meet the seniors who may be the next Homecoming King and Queen.

It takes all kinds of sports. There are a range of sports which you may choose from. If basketball doesn't interest you, there is always track, volleyball, soccer, or even softball. There is something here for everyone's interest. If you don't wish to be on a team, you may choose a certain set of activities in one of the many kinds of gym classes.

It takes all kinds of clubs. The clubs range from Poetry all the way to VICA. No matter what your interests are, there is always something here that you can join.

STUDENT LIFE

Cheap Thrills

Say you're going on a date with someone that you really want to impress. -But you've got a slight problem ... you only have $15. What are YOU going to do? We surveyed various students around school and came up with a variety of interesting answers. Some girls, such as junior, Corrine Walkoe and senior, Karla Bussey thought that "The guy should pay."

Date For $15

Whereas some guys, like senior Joel Lockett and junior Adam Fitzenreider, preferred to pocket the $15 and "Cook dinner for them."

Junior Michele Biring summed it up best by saying, "No matter where you go, no matter what you do, it doesn't matter because if they like you, they're going to be impressed." -Dayna Christiansen & Angie Pope

"I would take the little lady to Target Food Court for a tasty feast of onion rings and Mountain Dew." Brad Dujmovic looks like he'd rather eat the poster than part from his $15.

Bill Dujmovic would, "Take her for a walk on Mallard's Landfill for a good view of Carol Stream, miniature golfing, and back to my house so she can help me with my homework. Then I'd walk her home so I could save money on gas." It looks like he'd even help her cheat at the miniature golfing!

How was your first day of school?

There are many different responses to this question. Some think the first day of school is pointless. Others think the school has improved. Then there are those who think it was horrible. What do you think?

Tony Co, a senior, thought that the first day of school was fulfilling because of the simple pleasure of "Not getting a rotten milk." Conor Doyle, a junior, couldn't agree with Tony. Conor replies, "The first day of school was never ending and eternal." Was it really that bad? Jera Ransone, a junior, had a good point. Jera says, "My butt was numb from sitting on a hard chair all day." That sounds pretty painful!

As you can see, for some the first day of school was fulfilling. For others, the first day of school was painful. Of course, there are few that just can't be pleased with school. Over all, I think everyone can agree that the first day of school was memorable.

-Angie Pope-

"The first day of school was fairly egregious for me."

-March Rundell, Senior-

Seniors, Tony Berg and James Smith roughing up a freshman saying, "Hey freshman, got any money?"

Kim Chribonneau and Danielle Lureau laugh at their schedule on their first day in a new school.

Dana Bowne, Nicki Fitzenreider, Dayna Christiansen, and Sarah Arthur are proud of their work well done on the tee pee the night before. But they look like such angels!

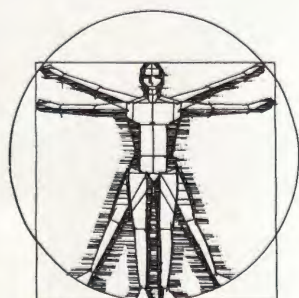

"I was still hyper from the tee pee party the night before so I knew senior year would rock!"

-Brenda Miller, Senior-

Brenda Miller starts a new senior tradition of tee peeing before the first day of school.

Annie Obrochta is relieved to finally be fitted for her graduation cap.

"After four years at this school, I still don't know where all the classes are."

Motion Picture Magic

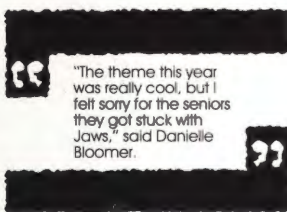

"Homecoming week is my favorite, but I have to admit I loved Brett Stark in his boat (shark patrol). Seniors rule," exclaims senior Jessie Vescio. The theme for homecoming was We - Go Hollywood. The seniors had the almighty jaws, and the juniors skipped down the yellow brick road with the Wizard of Oz. Sophomores dreamt of summer lovin' with Grease, and the freshman flew in with Batman.

"It's a spiffy time to make fools of ourselves and get away with it," said Jake MacPherson. There were a lot of good costumes for dress-up day. One of the juniors dressed up as a yellow brick, and a senior was dressed as a shark patrol boat. Once again, the class of 1997 won overall for the battle of the classes. Homecoming was a success.

Walking through the shimmering streamers, everyone who came to the dance was transported to Hollywood for a night. Movie posters taped across the walls dated back to E.T., music dated back to Grease. The cafeteria was more packed than it has been for quite some time. Even though it was hot as the tropics, it didn't stop anyone from having fun, it just ran up the water bill. This year's music was different. Due to what teachers call mashing, not much modern music was played. There were some pretty crazy dance moves on the floor because of the older music, but everyone enjoys a little hokey pokey and funky chicken right?

Creepy Crawlers

Despite the few drizzles, people still got in the Halloween spirit by dressing up. The costumes ranged from the good ol' clown all the way to a baby. But, as always, there are those unusual and strange costumes that stick out. Brian Pillion said the best costume he saw, "was a guy dressed up as a pack of cigarettes." Becky Fritz said, "there was a little girl dressed up as a cup of pink soda with the straw and everything." Jenny Pellegrino said the best costume she saw was, "Eddie dressed up as a girl scout." Angela Barnes remarked that the best costume was, "Kathy York dressed like Pebbles Flintstone." Finally, Madelha Jafri thought the best costume she saw was, "three triplets dressed up as pigs." Even if you didn't dress up, there was always the tradition of trick-or-treating left to get you in the Halloweeny spirit. — Jennifer Prusko

Two Nights To Remember

The theme for winter formal was "Beach Party". The junior class did a great job recreating this scene in the cafeteria in order to raise money for prom. They handed out leighs at the front door and converted the pit into a giant "fishing hole". A volleyball tournament was being held in gym, and there was also a hula-hoop competition that even Mr. Highland competed in.

Turnabout was also held in the cafeteria on March 15. The guys had their chance for the night to be paid for and escorted by the ladies. What could be better? But still some weren't completely satisfied. Many of the seniors complained that there were a lot of underclassmen there, and sophomore Adam Bridge complained that it was too hot. Some people complained about the music while others had no problem with it. All in all, everyone must admit that they had a little fun that night.

Two Evenings Of Pure Entertainment

The annual Variety Show and Celebrity Auction took place on February 15.

Hosted by the FBLA members and the advisors, the Variety Show featured everything from comical musical acts.

Primary hosts of the show were Dana and Matt Bowne. The money earned was donated to the March of Dimes.

The 3rd annual Mr. Wildcat competition was on March 13 and was hosted by Bridget Horgan and Tony Berg. There were nine brave seniors who chose to participate. The night concluded by Mike Clifford being named 1996 M. Wildcat. Dave Splawski was first runner-up, and Matt Belokin received Mr.

Congeniality. Matt notes that "Mr. Wildcat was one of the best times I've ever had. I couldn't have lost to better bunch of guys."

Overall, both nights seemed to be successful.

Double Your Pleasure

Home Ec Night, entitled For Those Who Think Young, took place on April 11th. The evenings events began with a fashion show by the Clothing 1 and 2 students. The Nursery School Kids then delighted the audience with their singing. Dave Splawski gave a stunning performance as "Magic Marvin", and Tony Keen was a tumbling success in his skit "Ta Dum". The Clothing students then showcased more of their work in another fashion show. The Child Development 2 class showed the crowd what a "Typical Day in Nursery School" is like. The Contemporary Life class presented skits about "Choices" and "Real Men". The audience was encouraged to participate in the Ki Medley which brought back youthful memories to many. The Prom Fashion Show showcased a diversity of astonishing attire selections for the prom and other outings. The highlight of the evening was the double wedding of Alexis Smith to Andrew Alaniz, and Jennifer Wagenaar to James Lakomeki. -Tierney Carlson

Lyndsy Paver looks as if she can't fit one more egg-shaped Jello jiggle in her mouth while supporting the seniors during Spring Fling Week, so why not throw it at Adam Owens?

The 3rd Annual Spring Fling Week took place in March. "Battle of the Classes" took place along with the new idea of a Mr. Irresistible contest. How this worked was all the girls were issued a pin at the start of the day. If a smooth-talking guy could get a girl to talk to him, he would get her pin. Joe Kaczmarek had the most pins making him the first ever Mr. Irresistible.

And An Enchanted Evening It Was

Junior-Senior prom 1996 was held at the Radisson in Lisle. Couples walked in to a beautiful array of gold, teal, and white balloons. Once they entered the ballroom they were greeted with more balloons, a rose and vase, bubbles, and a photo album to take home properly embellished with the prom theme "Enchanted Evening". A choice between Chicken Sonoma or Vegetable Lasagna was the night's entree which according to some was not all that great, but better than last year's dinner. In between the dinner and dance was when juniors Melisa Buenz and Chad Perry were crowned Prom Queen and Prom King. Then the dancing began. Everyone showed their wild side as they boogied down to the latest jams, old favorites, and every now and then, the prom song "In Your Eyes" by Peter Gabriel. Prom ended at 11:00 p.m. Some prom-goers went for a cruise to downtown Chicago, on a boatride at Navy Pier, or they could have attended the annual "All Night Long" after-prom party held at Bowling Green. There weren't many complaints to this year's prom; hopefully next year's juniors make prom just as good as this one, or maybe even better.

On My Honor

Ninety-two students were inducted into the National Honor Society on May 2nd.

Juniors and Seniors who have a 3.0 or higher grade point average are given the opportunity to become members.

These students were asked to answer questions about work they've done for the school and community. Then a list of students were sent to teachers for evaluation. The students who possessed qualities of scholarship, leadership, service, and character were invited to the induction ceremony. These students pledged to service the school for 5 hours. They received a certificate, pin, and membership card. The students, along with their families, were then invited to have cake in the cafeteria.

Distinguished Seniors were honored at Honors Night on May 30th. Various awards were presented to Seniors who have worked hard their four years at We-go. This was the last time the Seniors in choir would sing with the other members, and they ended it on a beautiful note.

Graduates Reach For The Stars

Commencement is a major turning point for most Seniors. From now on we have to be responsible for everything we do. Decisions that we make now could possibly affect the rest of our lives. Many of us have a pretty good idea of what we're doing next, whether that may be school or work. But what happens after that?

Senior class advisor Barbara Laimins encouraged us to keep on learning in her speech "One Last Lesson." She discussed just how important it is for us to push ourselves to become more like the Athenians. She informed us that there are many adults out there that are Barbarians, but we should try and get more Athenians in the world. Her speech touched many people, Chrissy Brenner said, "My grandmother was moved to tears."

I'm sure that the class of '96 will have a record number of Athenians in the future. Best wishes and may all your dreams come true. Never stop reaching for the stars.

Junior Power!

Lions and tigers and Juniors oh my! Was this year's cry during homecoming events. This year the theme for homecoming was movies and the junior class was struck with follow the yellow brick road syndrome. The juniors went all out with building the best float and decorating their own little yellow brick. The juniors took first place over all during the homecoming events.

What is the best year in high school to a junior? Well they haven't touched their senior year so for most of the juniors asked this has been their best year. They have reached the upper level of high school and they aren't the little lost freshman they were three years ago. According to Kristina Leuze, "Interesting - definitely interesting. I suppose when the year starts out with four guys in dress (marching band camp) you know you're in for a big surprise." "What makes this year the best is The Glove and the nickname 'Taco' from the girls track team!" exclaims Candace Benja. The question still remains, is the Junior year the best?

Rearin' To Go

At the time of registration the only thing on a Sophomores' mind is DRIVING. They no longer need to sit on the bus looking out the window, and wishing they were behind the wheel of some classic car. But before obtaining that piece of plastic known as your Driver's License, you to make it through Driver's Ed class. Monica Acker said she will always remember, "the bellbottoms and old cars on the simulator screens." Adam Kowal also spoke of the simulators when he said, "the funny music during simulators' class." In addition to simulators, you need to pass the behind the wheel part. Tom Walton said he will never forget "Mr. Howard making us turn 'wite ate the wite.'" So even if your most fondest moment was driving over the curb, or going the wrong way on a one way street, or even watching those simulator movies, it all pays off when you get your Driver's License. Now the only thing that matters, is getting that car you can call your own.

Low Man On The Totem Pole

Being a freshmen means going through many changes: new school, new faces, new friends, and new classes. Many adjustments have to be made. I remember back to my freshman year getting used to all the huge seniors yelling "FRESHMEN!" when one of my freshman friends walked through the library security with a book or sat the senior table in lunch by mistake. -And now here I am, a senior. High school does take some getting used to, but it doesn't take too long to realize that everyone else has gone through it, too. There are good points. Shannon Sperando "likes being a freshmen because I get to meet a lot of new people." So my advice is to just hang in there guys, and have fun because before you know it you'll be graduating! It only gets better from here!

Teachers ... "Can't Learn W/O 'Em

So many teachers have helped turn us around and pull up our grades and focus on school ... something very hard to do. Believe it or not, you have taught us. Teachers are more than just the core of education though, many teachers go above and beyond that. Many can become your friends and/or mentors. Some teachers have become second mothers to me. If it were up to me to define the word "teacher", it would be someone who is excited to help other people to learn, to always be there, to always care and be supportive, to be some one you can feel free to go to, to talk to. I personally would like to thank Mrs. Laimins, Mrs. Carter, and Ms. Nelson for being there for me, and Mr. Arnold for all that he made me ponder. This school has such a wonderful staff of supportive teachers and counselors that will never be forgotten. On behalf of all the students ... THANK YOU ALL!!! - CHRISSY BRENNER

ORGANIZATIONS

Preparing For All Kinds

FBLA helps to prepare the students to be Future Business Leaders of America. FBLA went to area conferences where people took tests of their choices as a competition with other schools. The tests ranged from accounting to word processing. At the State Leadership Conference Dana Bowne won state champion in Networking with Business Project; David Yong won state champion as Mr. Future Business Leader; Henry Barta won state champion in Computer Concepts; David Yong, Henry Barta, and Brandon Beideman represented Illinois in their competitive events at the National Conference in Washington D.C. The students weren't the only ones winning awards, the school also won an award. West Chicago also won most money raised overall with the March of Dimes fundraiser. West Chicago raised $2,037.71 overall. Finally, Advisor Nancy Blume won Advisor of the Year.

While FBLA was responsible for preparing students to be Future Business Leaders, Pep Club was responsible for getting the Student Body pumped up for various events. They help Pep assemblies and had the athlete's lockers decorated. Not only did they get the student body hyped and flowing with school spirit for sports, but also for Homecoming. They were the masterminds behind the coronation assembly and the meeting of the candidates. Pep Club does a lot to renew the school spirit in all of us.

It Takes All Kinds Of Plays

The Fall and Winter plays were very successful, with Desperate Hours and Alice in Wonderland. Joel Dawson- "It was so funny Roxi Rohrbach (Samantha Robish) had to pretend to drink this bottle of alcohol on stage and we put apple cider in it, and she was sick already, it was just so funny because she got even more sick from drinking the cider every night."

Then in Alice and Wonderland humorous things were bound to happen with the facetious actors, charming costumes, and Ms. H's jocular requests. The craziest things happened when couches and cellos mysteriously broke. On stage the actors could really get into their characters. Marissa Filippo's (Queen of Hearts) outrageously funny one liners flew across stage including Mark Rundell's (Courtier) wig and Brad Dujmovic's (The Nave) cherry tarts. — Jera Ransone

Big bad Matt Bowne (Glen Griffin) ominously threatens Jon Fraser (Ralphie) and Kathy York (Cindy) as the parents wait helplessly.

Liz Edwards (Pink Flower), Tiffany Hanshaw (Blue Flower), Hedi Fouss (Rose Flower), Sarah Miller (White Flower), Jenni Grobe (Violet Flower), and Karla Bussey (Yellow Flower) giggle away after Matt Bowne (Humpty Dumpty) tells the silly flowers to quiet down.

Dave Bunge (Gryphon), Alice, and Renee Levine (Mock Turtle) do a little dance, make a little fun, and get down tonight.

The Royal Family of Hearts — Brad Dujmovic, Marissa Filippo, Chris Hauger, Lisa Arnett, Matt Edwards, and Jon Fraser.

"Let me play a few blue notes for you Alice," exclaims Matt Shinofield (The Caterpillar).

Steve Garcia (Daniel Hillard) and Matt Bowne (Glen Griffin) face off during one of the most tense moments of the play.

Hey, Ms. Hafertepe, do the "hokey pokey" dance for us!

The cards (Eric Peterson, Amanda Giermann, Caroline McClellan) are hard at work painting the flowers — wax on, wax off!

The case breaks for Mike Clifford (Deputy Bard), Joel Dawson (Tom Winston), Annalea Jimmo (Miss Carson), and Laina Wing (Dutchie) while Mike Leck (Fredricks) sits back disapprovingly.

“On the last night of the performance, Brad threw one of his cookies across the stage during the courtroom scene. Everyone who saw it could hardly keep from busting out laughing on stage.”
—Chris Ribe (Mad Hatter)

Matt Shinofield and Anne D'Aversa look into the audience as Sarah Arthur sings "Glory."

Acting Of A Different Kind

Thespians is a group of students who are interested in theater. They do such things as go as a group to watch plays and attend theaterfest. At theaterfest, the thespians did many workshops and watched productions. At theaterfest, Sarah Arthur says, "We faked it up."

The musical "Pippin" this year was put on May 9-11. The musical was directed by Lori Watson, Steve Kellner, and Kim Sirvatka. It was also student directed by Eric Peterson. "Pippin" is a very different musical set in Florence, Italy in 1100. Senior Joe Paver, who went to see the play thought, "It was very tripped out." Mark Rundell exclaimed, "I couldn't stop dancing!" Pippin was played by Mike Clifford. Mike's favorite part of the musical was "jumping off stage into the audience and dirty dancing for Ms. Hartfordape." Tony Keen, who played Pippin's half brother, Lewis, said, "I got to kiss my biceps in front of a whole crowd!" "Pippin" was the last play for many thespians, and with a tear in her eye, Senior Sarah Arthur, who played one of the Leading Players said, "Pippin" was the best way to end senior year."

-Dayna Christiansen & Jill Sabatino

Sarah Miller prepares to frolic all over while singing "No Time at All."

Pippin and the players move into battle.

Liz Edwards falls to her death off of Jerry Erickson's shoulders.

Helping All

To make life a little easier during High School, there are three clubs which lend a helping hand - Clowns, Peer Listeners, and Peer Writing Tutors.

Clowns go around to various elementary schools and teach kids to stay away from drugs, alcohol, and cigarettes. To get their point across, the group dresses up in clown costumes and perform a skit. The skits are performed in a humorous way so that the kids may understand it better. The Clown team also participated in the Homecoming Parade, along with the other clubs.

The next group, Peer Listeners, focus on the kids in this school. Their primary focus is to help the Freshmen make it through their first year of High School. With Freshmen year, problems are bound to arise. For example, What if I get stuffed in a locker? Are the Seniors really that big and mean? and of course their first High School dance - Who should I ask? So Peer Listeners are there to smooth that bumpy road.

Finally, Peer Writing Tutors aide the sophomores with their writing. The Writing Tutors aide the sophomores during their English classes. They make sure their sentence structure is perfect, their ideas are developed, and making sure their essays make sense.

Even though these three groups help different kinds of people, they make High School a little less hectic.

— Jennifer Prusko

Athletes Of A Different Kind

Some athletes don't run to warm up for a meet. They don't weight lift in the off season. The only reason they may break a sweat is by thinking too hard. They are the academic athletes; the members of Math team, Scholastic bowl, and Mock trial. The math team took 7th place in the Dupage Valley Conference Meet, 6th place in the state regional tournament, and an overall 3rd place finish in the North Suburban Math League. The overall MVP went to Jon VanGinneken. With an overall record of 4-8, the scholastic bowl team had some good wins like the upset of Wheaton-Warrenville South who eventually took third place in state and a first round victory over Lake Park during sectionals. Scott Balsitis was awarded the varsity MVP and named DuPage Valley All-Conference Team. Last, but not least, Mock Trial with members Dominick Cavaliere, Kevin Griffey, Dana Bowne, Dave Yong, Tracy Morris, Soledad Sanchez, Michel Weston, and Richard Chojnowski, competed in a trial to decide whether the Boston Massacre was necessary. They spent 3 long months preparing for the trial with things from a fundraiser at Christmas to practice every week. A pretty hard year for these athletes, and they aren't even tired. — Dayna Christiansen and Joel Dawson

Making A Difference

SADD and VICA did more than accomplish goals, they made a difference in people's lives! VICA, Vocational Industrial Club of America, went down state to Springfield's State VICA Olympics. Many awards were won at the VICA Olympics. In Architectural draft, Jeff Rau took 1st place and Jenny Charbonneau took 4th place, while Grant Wheaton took 1st place in Machine drafting. The award for best interior designs went to Sandy Butkovich - 1st place, Michelle Nudo - 2nd place, and Rich Chojnowski took 1st place in Job interview. Finally, the awards for commercial sewing went to Sokhorn Chan - 1st place, and Carrie Bunge - 4th place. In addition to winning many awards, VICA held their annual food drive which was more than a success. SADD, Students Against Drunk Driving, also accomplished a lot. SADD participated in the window painting and float building activities during Homecoming Week. Even though they didn't capture 1st place, there was a lot of creativity put into their works. SADD also held one of their yearly events, The Chain of Life. This was held one week during school, in which students signed a slip of paper saying they wouldn't drink and drive. SADD also held their Day Of the Dead. This was when members of SADD would mock kill off students who were killed in a drunk driving accident. The students would pin a black flower and a tombstone on their chests. This meant the student was not allowed to talk to anyone or in any class, for the rest of the day. So, in the end, things went well for both clubs.

Writing Tomorrow's Memories

The literary legacy of the school was continued this year with the efforts of the Wildcat Chronicle, A Seperate Piece, and Challenge (yearbook) staff members. The Chronicle kept up with current events and issues with their in depth coverage of everything from the failed referendum to movies just released. You always knew when the Chronicle came out: nobody would do work in class until the teacher told them to put down the newspaper. A Seperate

Piece enjoyed it's second year, making a showplace for students' artwork, poetry, and stories. With a price tag of about a dollar-fifty per magazine, A Seperate Piece made some healthy competition for Reader's Digest. Challenge had a fast year, like always we fought with deadlines, lack of pictures, and people finding. Apparently, we did something right because in your hands you hold the fruits of our labor. Enjoy! — Joel Dawson

West Chicago Has All Kinds

Student Council, Key Club, and Art Club are just three of the many clubs.

Student Council held their annual blood drive, was in charge of the dances, and the Homecoming festivities before school. Student Council also participated in the school exchange program with Stagg High School. Members of our Student Council exchanged places with their Student Council members.

Key Club, too, helps out others but most of it was community oriented; such as visiting nursing homes. They held a multi-purpose drive and went to a convention in Springfield where the club won four awards.

Art Club may not help out like Student Council and Key Club, but they do play a major role. Every time we walked into the cafeteria and saw the big sign on the backwall, it was because of Art Club.

Speaking In Tongues

Even though most Americans believe the world revolves around them, the truth is that most of the world speaks languages other than English. For this reason, people in foreign language clubs have a head start on a majority of our country. German club kept from being bored with activities like pot luck dinners, German plays, and the annual Guten Tag film festival. During Homecoming they proved they were the most artistic language club by winning an award for their decorated truck. The Spanish club was busy with activities including a trip to the Mexican Fine Arts museum for an exhibit about "the Day of the Dead," and luncheon at Nuevo Leon restaurant, shopping for baked goods at a Mexican bakery, and a carwash with the Spanish exchange students. International club also stayed involved by doing such things as a Cinco de Mayo dance at an American Legion, Mexican Fest in May, and making money selling concessions at night school that takes place here, at the high school at night. An exciting and active year was had by French club. Their activities included the ever popular folk dancing at Fermi Lab, eating in the French restaurant Bistro Banlieue, and running Market Day to send some club members to France. The clubs didn't just stay to themselves, sometimes they got together. French and Spanish clubs went to the Art Institute together and most of the clubs got together for a Winter break party and a rollerskating party. Overall, an exciting year was had by our bi-lingual student body.

SPORTS

Go Wildcats! Go Wildcats! Go . . . hold up! Players want to know where all the school spirit and support is. Chad Perry states, "At first they did support us, but towards the end they seem to have given up on us." Brian Raymond feels that the school supports about fifty percent. "They feel that we are terrible." Is lack of school spirit the reason varsity had lack of wins? This year may have been bad for the varsity team but in the future they are bound to prosper considering that the sophomore and freshman teams had a pretty good season.

No matter if you've had a good year or a bad year there is always advice to give the younger generation. "Try your hardest," Josh Wiedow advises. Nick Ruscito adds to that by saying, "Try your hardest and don't give up," That is definitely one for the wildcats to follow.

Chad Perry with a burst of energy wins the game by knocking them to the ground.

According to the girls' volleyball teams, they didn't do as well as they could have, but they didn't give up. Each athlete gave the team a particular flare. When everything was tense, there was always someone there to loosen up the team, whether it was something that they said or did. There were also the people who offered the team the most support by cheering them on, while they warmed the bench.

It was definitely a memorable season. The teams struggled a bit, but there is a lot of hope for next year. They definitely have the talent, it's up to them to use it to the fullest. Good Luck next year!

The feeling is great, but it would have been better had someone else seen it.

Many of the tennis players, both on the boys and the girls teams, feel that the sport, tennis, at WeGo does not get enough support or recognition. It's time to attend at least one tennis match. Believe it or not, the tennis teams have won more games than the football team. Show more support for one of the better teams.

Boys Tennis MVP was Michael Leck. MIP was awarded to Matthew Bowne and Jason Neal. Leck also received the Coaches Award and All-Conference Honorable Mention along with Bowne, Matt Gonzales, Jason Neal, Tim Martin, and Brett Stark.

Whether it's the mile, the jumps, the relays, or the sprints, it's all wound into one little word, track. Track is not just a sport where people run all of the time, nor is it a sport where it's all practice and no play. The team has a lot of fun along with their hard work.

The team members help to support each other for each and every event. Track gets a little more recognition then some other sports such as Tennis or Badminton. Yet the team members could always use more support, and why not, they deserve it.

For boys tracks MVP was Dan Horyn, while Jaime Sanchez was awarded MIP. Kevin Thompson received the Coaches Award. All-Conference Honorable Mention went to Horyn, Joseph Kaczmarek, and Jake Meyers.

Jill Branner was MVP for girls track. Marisol Garcia was voted for MIP. Coaches Award was received by Candace Benja. All-Conference First team went to Jill Branner.

Marisol Garcia takes one giant stride up and over into the comfortness of the mat waiting for her.

Badminton, not just a net with a racket and birdie, but a game of fun, concentration, and competition. Giau Nguyen gives a few of her thoughts about the team and the game of badminton. About the team: "We are a really good team, but I don't think we showed it out on the court. Make sense?"

There are many teams out there that don't get any school spirit or recognition. Badminton is one of them.

Nguyen also believes, "there is not nearly enough recognition considering that badminton is the number two sport in the world!"

The 1995-'96 cheerleading squads had great seasons this year. No matter how our teams were performing the cheerleaders were always there to support the football, wrestling, basketball, and soccer players.

The cheerleaders were the ones to cheer on our teams to victory or pick the players up after a tough loss.

Even though the cheerleaders work very hard to perfect their skills, there's always time for fun. The fall cheerleaders were nearly unanimous when they said, "The funniest moment of the season was at an away football game at Naperville Central. Katie Leitherer got really excited when our team scored a touchdown, and because it had been slippery, she slid and fell right into a fence."

Nicki Fitzenreider summed her season up best by stating,

"We did great. We worked well together and got so much accomplished, plus we had fun."

places for all of the nightly rating routines, and the Sunshine Squad Award. They were also named overall Grand Champions in their class. This awarded the poms with a Midwest invitation, where West Chicago placed in the top ten for their prop routine. Even though the poms were hard at work all through the summer and into the school year, there were still plenty

It Takes All Kinds Of Hard Work

Katie Leitherer, what a feeling, I hope she's not afraid of heights.

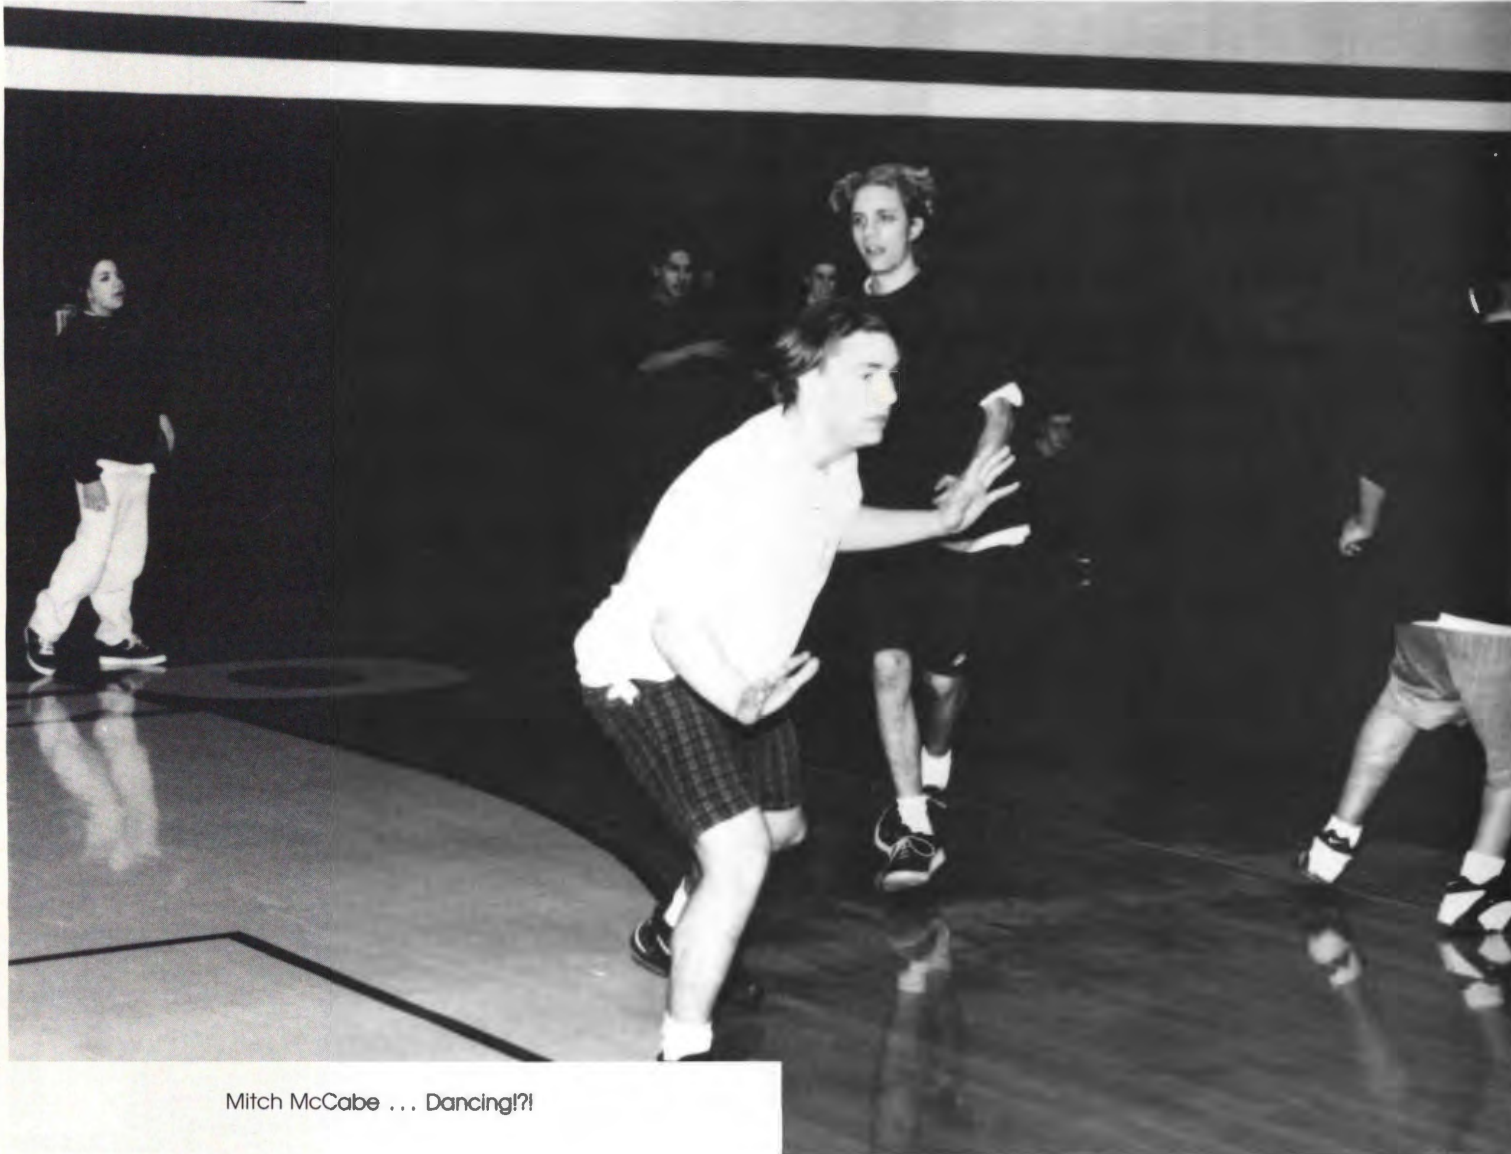

It takes all kinds of dancers to make Dance Production a success, which held true this year. "Dance Production was a blast this year. We were all really nervous, but by the second show we knew we rocked," exclaimed Jamie Llorens. Dance Production takes long hours of hard work and dedication and probably a strong stomach. "The most memorable moment in Dance Production was dress rehearsal and how everyone was running around in a panic," states Nicole Winkler.

P.E. What's the use arguing with administration? Every year students protest to having to participate in a physical education class. Then every year they tell us that we have to have P.E. because it's good for us. If you really think about it, P.E. might actually be fun. Of course if we didn't have P.E. classes there would be many teachers out of jobs.

Musical Menagerie

Mike Leck is a real "sax" fiend.

"The funniest thing that happened was during a practice on Thursday night when Mike Leck fell off his podium and his pants got caught and ripped off. It was so funny, I nearly wet myself!" laughed Kelly Baker. These antics seemed to pour from Drum Major Mike Leck. Thursday night practices were made fun with a different theme every Thursday. On "Beach Night," the fearless leader dressed up in a skimpy bathing suit and sat on the podium in a lawn chair. "Spy Night" found him dressed in all black, face and all. The best was yet to come with "Movie Star Night," though. A different side of Mike was brought out. Let's just say that if he shaved his legs, the Marilyn Monroe look alike contest would be a breeze.

THE SCHOOL IS ALIVE WITH THE SOUND OF MUSIC

Mrs. Sirvatka leads the choir into a song during rehearsal.

It seems more and more people are becoming interested in choir each year. The number of people in the choral program jumped from last year's 90 to this year's 130, and it seemed to pay off well.

Mike Clifford and Jacob Yang auditioned and were selected to participate in the 300 Voice District 7 Chorus for which selection is highly competitive. Jacob Yang was also chosen to sing in the Illinois Music Educator's Association All-State Choir. In addition to this, 19 singers from concert choir were sent to the Fox Valley Music Festival's Honors Choir held on April 28 and 29.

As for next year, choir wants more people to know what choir is all about and wants more people to try it out for themselves.

Life In The Real World

Tammy Pawlak concentrates on doing her business work.

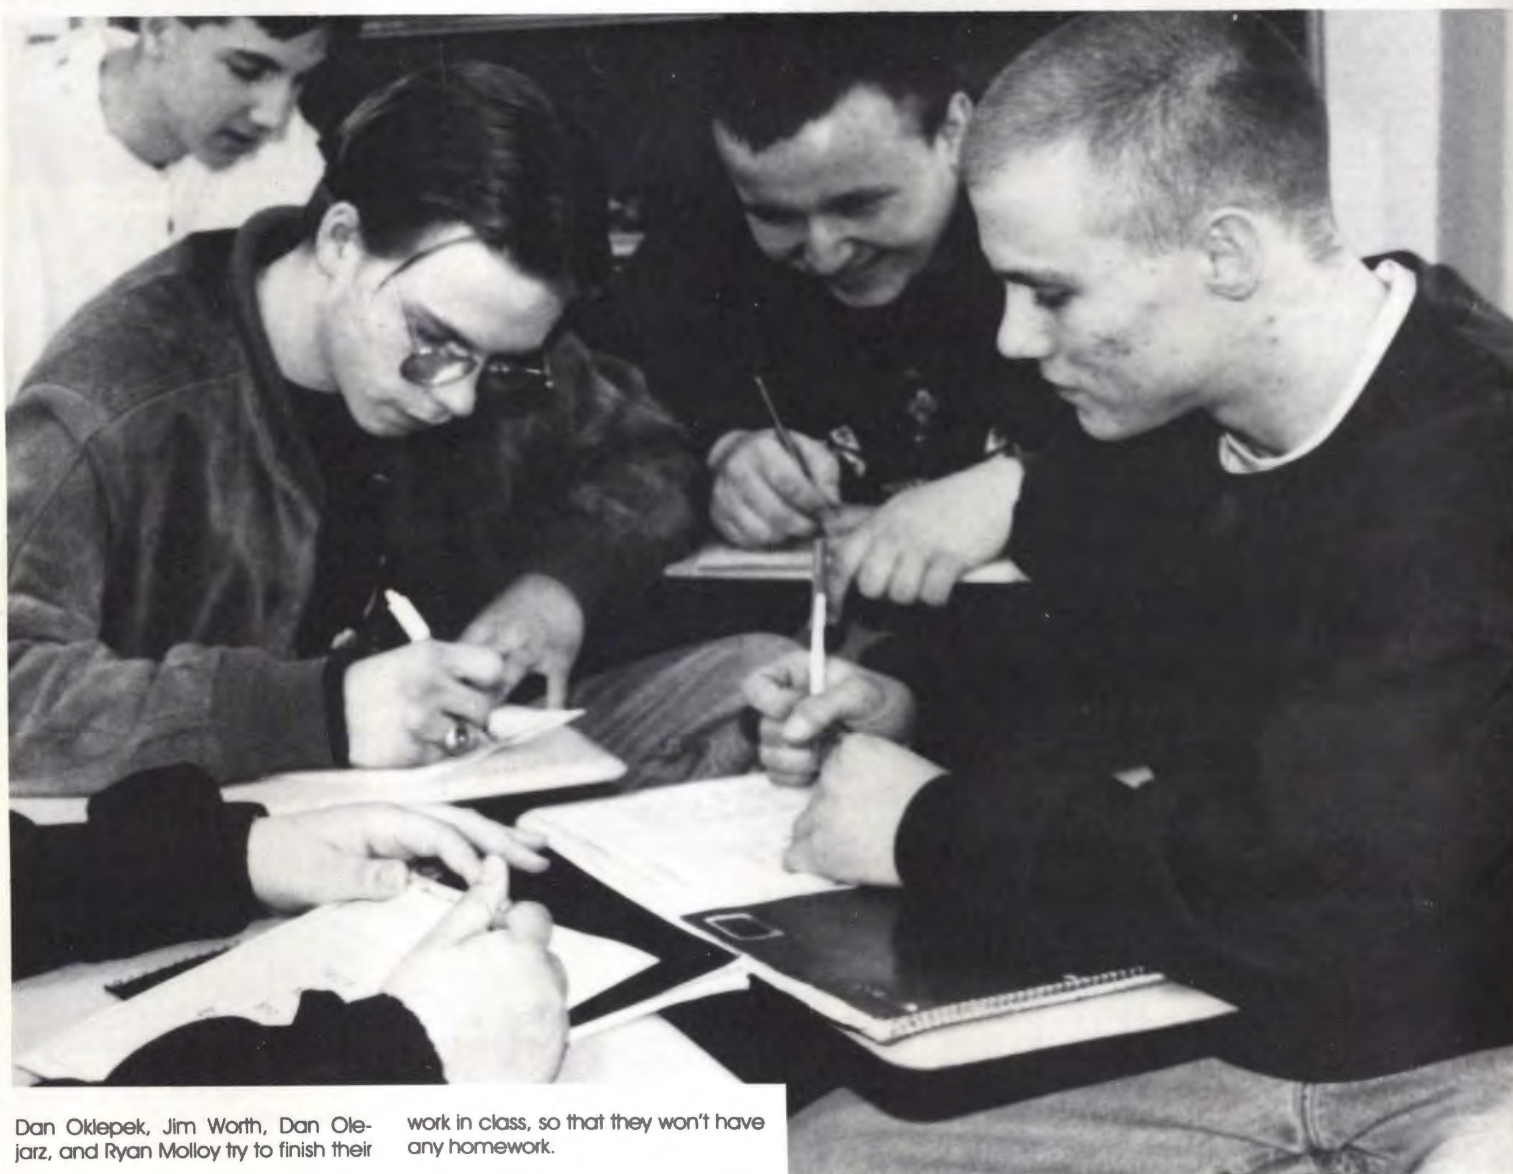

What's in store for your future? There are three classes that can help you determine which road to take: DAVEA, CWT, and Bus. and Tech. DAVEA is similar to a trade school. You can go there to do just about everything. They offer automotive classes, styling classes, child care, and those are just a few of the many things offered. DAVEA is a great way to get hands on training. CWT and Bus. and Tech help kids out in the work world. They help you find a job that is right for you, then how to keep that job, and how to get along with your fellow co-workers. They also help to fill out a resume and everything.

These three classes try to help to prepare you for life after High School. So, if you're looking for something fun to do, try DAVEA, CWT, or Bus. and Tech.

Build Your Future.

This kid looks like he's enjoying his Mr. Potato Head while he patiently waits for someone to come play with him.

There are several ways to prepare yourself for the future. The various ways will remain uncouned. If you want to expand your horizons, you can do so by participating in a Foreign Language, Home Economics, or an Industrial Arts class.

The Foreign Language Program is designed for the students who want to communicate better with others by learning a new language. Communication is very important to everyone (whether you travel to new places, or just want to expand your knowledge.) Students have the option of three languages to learn to speak and write. Students may choose to enroll in French, German, or Spanish. If a student learns and understands one language, he will find how similar the other languages can be.

Home Economics is a program that can help a student in various ways. The classes that are chosen for this program focus on the domestic areas in a student's life. With Foods and Nutrition, Contemporary Life, Interior Design, Child Development, and Clothing courses the students will prepare themselves to deal with home life. This program helps students learn to handle a child, prepare food, design clothes, or furnish their home.

Industrial Arts is designed for students who want to challenge themselves. Some find that the class is easy, if students like to keep themselves busy non-stop. While others say it is interesting. Overall if students enroll in an Industrial Arts program they're going to have to work. This program will teach them to be more responsible and will prepare them for the continuous effort they must have in the "real world."

As you can see, by entering into one or all of these programs the students are only doing themselves good. They may want to communicate better with others or learn how to take care of a particular area in their lives outside of school. Any one of these is an appropriate reason to enroll in these programs.

Required Courses Leaves Us With No Choice

Katrysse Mendoza, Trina Parra, and Jennie Sulak take a break from a hard assignment in history.

Indeed these must be the dreaded courses that we need to survive, hence the name "Required Courses." Some think that courses such as English, Math, Science, and P.E. have legitimate reasons for being required. Tony Keen says, "I feel in the world today, people need these classes just to get by because without them you go absolutely nowhere in school." He also believes that sex education should last all four years. On the other hand, some people don't agree with required courses. But I guess it all comes down to Marissa Filippo's interesting point, "Grown-ups always know what's best for us. I willingly take required courses."

Taking All Kinds Of Fun

Kelly Baker and Brett Stark dance the night away at Prom.

Candy Widorski, Liz Edwards, Amie Nottingham, Lexie Nussbaum, and Brianna Smith prepare for a night full of fun, with plenty of toilet paper bandy.

Alexis Smith teaches future pom poms how it is done.

Courtney Smith pretends she is five years old again.

Barb Younger and Dana Varble model off the new fashion trends of the future.

Band director, Daniel Harrison, plays at Charlestowne Mall over Winter Break with two bouncing Santas on top of his head.

Ann Choate, Jessica Choate, and Kelli Ransone ponder their next move in the Stock Market Game.

It Took All Kinds

When I was a freshman in Yearbook, I always had the dream of following in my sister's footsteps to become editor. People would look to me for the answers, and I was able to tell people what they could and couldn't put on the page. Right Jera? This year was a real challenge. There was a new supervisor and many new students. I had to make sure people were actually doing some work (Joel and Tierney) instead of goofing off or just sitting there. I also had to make sure the pages were filled out correctly and that there were no mistakes and that pages were turned in on time. The hardest part was trying to please everyone with the choices I made. However, there are many things which I will never forget such as, "Don't even make fun of me" or "Je sais que tu sais que je sais." I will also always remember the things we made up: water polo team, Future Belt Lovers Club, and the ever popular book. Putting the yearbook together was harder than just picking out a picture and figuring out where to put it. There was a lot of consideration put into this yearbook, especially the division pages. Hope you enjoyed the book, because I enjoyed being editor.
